'Principal' blocks Dist. 54 settlement

by DOROTHY OLIVER

After coming within a hair's breadth of reaching settlement in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54, the board of education Sunday threw down the gauntlet to teachers, challenging them to call off their strike and report to work today or face dismissal.

Schools will be closed to children today but teachers have been told they are to return to work for an "institute day," said Stewart Diamond, board negotiator.

"We have sent the notice to all of the teachers saying if they do not return to school tomorrow (Monday) they will face dismissal hearings," Diamond said Sunday.

TEACHERS REPORTEDLY plan to picket schools Monday beginning at 6 a.m. and will not report for work, union officials said.

Diamond said no formal negotiations took place during the weekend. The board has refused to negotiate during the strike. But The Herald learned that informal negotiations were conducted by telephone, and both sides had agreed to a salary settlement by Sunday afternoon.

The settlement was "blown out of the water" according to sources, over "matters of principle. We had a settlement in salary but the board refused to sigh because of matters of principle."

Informal talks late last week brought teachers down from their 12.9 per cent increase demand to 11 per cent. The board reportedly increased their 9.4 per cent offer, but specific figures have not been made public. Both sides reportedly have returned to their previous salary proposals.

BETWEEN 70 AND 80 per cent of the district's 900 teachers went out on strike Friday after marathon bargaining sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Salary is the only issue being discussed in bargaining this year. The current base salary in the district for first-year teachers is $9,000. Teachers want an increase in the base and a new salary schedule.

The strike is costing the district $100,000 a day in state aid money, Diamond said. "Unless we can settle soon we will be reducing and not increasing (the board's salary offer)," he said.

TEACHERS RECEIVED letters Saturday signed by Board Pres. Dr. Edgar Feldman, stating "This letter shall serve as a written warning to you that participation in a teacher strike is viewed by the board of education as a sufficient cause to bring charges against you seeking your permanent dismissal as a teacher within this district.

"In the event that you return to work or offer a valid explanation for your absence by the school day following the receipt of this letter, no disciplinary action will be taken against you. In the event you do not return to work or offer such valid explanation within the same time period, the board of education will commence statutory dismissal procedures

'Unfair to elderly'

Taxi service cuts criticized

John Gianopulos, chairman of the Arlington Heights Senior Citizens' Commission, has called recommended cuts in services for the elderly "disheartening."

Gianopulos said the special committee on social services' recommendations to eliminate subsidized taxi service for senior citizens is not giving the elderly "a fair shake." The committee called for the elimination of the taxi service because of the shuttle bus service offered by Wheeling Township.

"We had raised some of the same questions the committee raised. We were told by the people at the township level that they could not provide equivalent services," Gianopulos said.

TOWNSHIP BUSES are "most inappropriate" for meeting the needs of the elderly because they run on scheduled routes, he said.

"If some widow needs to get to a drug store, she has to make arrangements 24 hours ahead of time," Gianopulos said.

The Senior Citizens' Commission has requested a joint meeting with the village board to discuss the future of the commission. Gianopulos said Village Pres. James Ryan "led me to believe they are not bound in any way by the recommendations of the committee."

"The next move is the village board's. We've requested the joint meeting and had no response. I'm sure Mr. Ryan was waiting for the committee's report," he said.

GIANOPULOS SAID he hopes the board will "consider all sides of the question before making any decisions."

The village board will discuss the special committee report at 8 p.m. tonight at the village hall, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Blocked gates snarl traffic in two towns

Palatine police and Civil Defense workers directed traffic across four railroad crossings for about 5½ hours Saturday because of malfunctioning railroad signals.

In downtown Arlington Heights, police assisted traffic flow around closed railroad gates for about an hour Saturday. Traffic tie-ups were reported in both towns, police said.

Palatine police said Chicago and North Western Ry. officials were notified of the problem two minutes after the malfunctioning signals were reported at 2:19 p.m.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS were called two additional times, but repair crews did not appear until about 7 p.m., police reported. The affected crossings were on Plum Grove Road, Brockway Street, Smith Road and Palatine Road-Hale Street. The signals were corrected about 7:45 p.m.

A railroad spokesman said no information was available as to the cause of the malfunctioning gates or why crews were so late in arriving in Palatine.

Police said the situation was hazardous. At one point, cars were almost striking the gates at the Plum Grove Road crossing because it was dark and the lights on the gates were not working as the batteries became weak.

OLD POLICE department vehicles were auctioned off to about 50 persons at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building Saturday. The auctioneer was C. P. "Terry" Dunning, right, of Dunning's Auction Service, Elgin.

Highest bidders drive off in old village police cars

About 50 people huddled from Saturday's biting wind as the sing-song voice of the auctioneer called for someone to spend $400 for a 1972 Dodge.

The lure of a good deal at Arlington Heights' first auto auction brought only $375 for the police car which has seen more than 76,000 miles of road. The buyer, who read of the auction in an Elgin newspaper, moved on to look at another 1972 Dodge.

Many came to buy a second family car while others came to look or became fascinated with the proceedings while dropping off a load of papers at the adjacent recycling center.

MOST OF THE 16 autos up for sale were old police vehicles that have been replaced by 1975 models. With their official markings removed, the cars only had some bumps and bruises to show for their years as police cars.

"They've been around town, but they have been well maintained," auctioneer C. P. "Terry" Dunning crooned to the crowd. "I don't see why you should have any problem."

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson had predicted the village would make $2,000 to $3,000 on the sale, and appeared pleased with most of the sales Saturday. Midway through the auction, actual sales were exceeding estimates for all but two cars.

Buyers checked under the hood and started the cars before the auction began sharply at 11 a.m. behind the village hall. The village provided brief descriptions of all the vehicles, noting some of the problems such as leaky transmissions.

Despite the problems and the high mileage, those who bought said the prices were good. "At least compared to what I've seen in the market," said the man who left with a 1966 red Ford station wagon.

Letters give 'little people' an ego boost

by MARILYN McDONALD

Albert Carriere remembers the special joy children get from receiving their own mail.

His own three children used to love to open advertisements and flyers Carriere would solemnly distribute to them, telling them the junk mail was letters from Uncle Fred or Uncle Harry.

Now Carriere, owner of his own public relations firm and a part-time journalism instructor at Northwestern University, has begun writing monthly "letters to little people" from a lovable old codger of his own invention, Uncle Toby. For $5 a year, Uncle Toby will write to the child of your choice about his friends Charlie Chickadee, Chester Chipmunk, the black squirrel, Always Hungry, and life in the quaint Great Oak Forest.

"MY OWN STUDIES and work with children convinced me that people don't treat children as individuals," Carriere said in his carriage house office on the old Armour estate, Lake Bluff. "I thought that having a child receive a letter each month from Uncle Toby would be extremely valuable for the child's ego," he added.

Carriere, a former teacher and speech therapist from Connecticut who says he'll never see 50 again, spends several days a month on his Uncle Toby letters, but says they're still more a hobby for him than anything else. About 300 children are now receiving the letters, but Carriere has carefully determined that he can handle a circulation of up to 50,000.

"I did quite a bit of research before I began the letters," Carriere said. He consulted pediatricians and child psychologists for the characteristics of his audience, most of them 3 to 8 years old.

"I spent about four years on the selection of the right name," Carriere said. He regularly tried out name suggestions on children he knew, searching for just the right cozy, companionable name for his author.

Then Carriere did population studies, determining how many children he could expect to reach in the to 8-year-old age bracket. He advertises the letter service in carefully selected publications like the National Observer, Sunset and Holiday magazines, where grandparents or young parents are likely to see the ad.

IN ADDITION to the letters, Carriere sends postcards to Uncle Toby's nieces and nephews when he makes business trips to places like Montreal and London.

"My secretary makes up a batch of mailing labels before I leave, and I just paste them on and write 'Having a wonderful time, wish you were here,' " Carriere said.

And the children obviously love Uncle Toby. They send him pictures, letters and postcards which Carriere displays on a bulletin board in his office. He's even met one or two of the children on business trips, Carriere said.

Now at work on his 19th Uncle Toby letter, Carriere soon hopes to include birthday greetings and mail-along bicycle safety materials to his subscribers. But he is firmly opposed to commercializing Uncle Toby in any way. He has copyrighted Uncle Toby and his letters to avoid seeing him plastered all over lunch boxes, teeshirts and pencil boxes.

"A lot of people think I'm a nut," Carriere laughed. "But a child should be given the same dignity and warmth that you'd give any other human being."

Car mechanics OK new pact

Some 2,000 auto mechanics voted Sunday to end their 15-week strike against new car dealers.

The mechanics are expected to return to work Tuesday morning following the ratification of a new contract which was hammered out Friday.

The union received wage and work guarantees and improvements in hospital insurance, vacations, pension and a new dental program, but further details of the pact were not announced.

ACCORDING TO Don Gustafson, president and business manager of the International Assn. of Machinists, Local 701, 1,724 mechanics, or 76 per cent, voted to approve the contract while 532 voted against.

The balloting took place at the union's Chicago headquarters. The mechanics were instructed to arrange with their employers to be back on their jobs Tuesday morning.

There was no immediate indication whether the mechanics were successful in retaining the 50 per cent share in labor charges after 40 hours work. The dealers wanted to eliminate this part of the agreement.

The mechanics were on strike July 2 when their two-year contract expired. The break in the strike came at 3:45 a.m. Friday when negotiators came up with a tentative agreement which was approved Sunday.

Beame fears the closing on New York

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame warned Sunday that if the federal government lets the city default, the effect on municipal services would be so devastating that "we'd have to close up the city."

Beame, interviewed on NBC's "Meet The Press," said that even under the favorable default procedure, which would give essential services priority over payments to creditors, the city would still have to make extreme cuts.

"We are not alone concerned about defaulting on bonds," Beame explained. "Even if we didn't pay any debt service, any bonds at all, or notes, we would be shy more than $1 billion between December and March."

"If that cash is not available — certainly under default it wouldn't be — that would be the equivalent of a $3 billion annualized cut," Beame said.

The figure is about one-fourth of the total budget.

"We'd have to close up the city under those conditions," the mayor said.

Beame continued his criticism of President Ford and Treasury Secretary William Simon for their refusals to back loan guarantees for the city, but said he was encouraged by the degree of support in Congress for such a measure.

In New York, Simon had some words of praise for Beame's handling of the city's fiscal crisis, but remained cool to pleas for federal assistance to head off default.

Simon, interviewed in Washington on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers," said "Mayor Beame and those men have done a tremendous job in making a lot of tough political decisions. And they are tough — things that are going to put people out of work in their city."

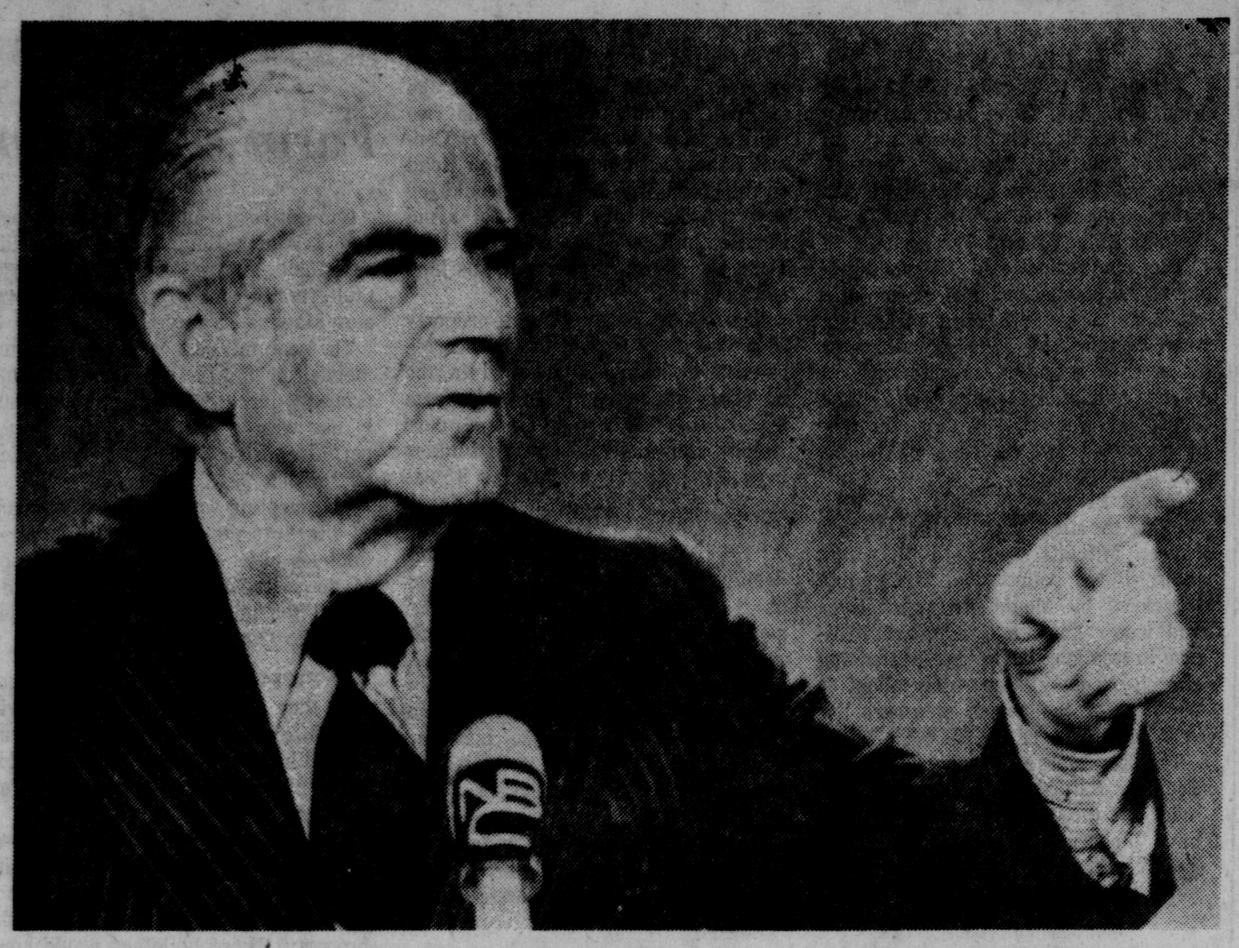
But asked whether President Ford might sign some form of loan guarantee program if passed by Congress, Simon said, "I think the Prssident will do as he has done.

"And he has consistently opposed federal government intervention in New York City's affairs because he feels, and I believe rightfully so, that the solution to the problem . . . rests there for them to solve. And they have the ability to solve them."

Simon said such tough budget cutting measures can bring the city's budget into line. He called the prospect of default in December a "temporary cash flow problem" that will "disappear in a couple of years."

A "temporary" solution, Simon suggested, could come at the state level — such as an emergency additional three-year sales tax of 3 per cent one year, 2 per cent the next, and 1 per cent the year after that.

Simon continued to minimize the national and international consequences of default, in contrast to Beame.



NEW YORK MAYOR Abraham Beame warned Sunday that if the Federal Government lets the city default, the effect on municipal services would be so devastating "we'd have to close the city." Beame also continued his criticism of President Ford and Treasury Secretary William Simon for their refusals to back loan guarantees for the city, but said he was encouraged by Congress.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mobile, Ala., couldn't pay its debts in 1838, and became the first American city to default on its obligations.

In the course of U.S. history since then, many municipalities, including President Ford's hometown of Grand Rapids, Mich., have suffered a similar financial plight. But cities which went bankrupt didn't disappear as businesses normally do.

In a large number of cases, the only real losers were city employes who had to take pay cuts or pay interest on borrowed money while they worked without wages. Given time, most cities were able to resume payments of principal and interest to investors and lenders.

An authoritative study of city financial emergencies in America, published in 1973 by the Advisory Commission on Invergovernmental Relations, found there were few municipal bankruptcies in the early days when Mobile went broke.

Local indebtedness of any kind was frowned upon then, and few cities were borrowing money.

During the two decades before the Civil War, there were 19 local government defaults, caused mostly by tight money conditions and bank failures. All of them were for short periods.

The worst defaults in U.S. history came after the Civil War.

During the 1873 to 1879 depression, 25 per cent of the debts of major local governmental units were in default. Most could be traced to carpetbaggers who absconded with money and to railroad aid bonds which did not work out.

The next big spate of municipal bond defaults came in the 1920s, mostly as a result of land speculation. The collapse of the real estate boom in Florida brought widespread defaults in 1927.

Then the Great Depression dried up tax money for the nation's cities, and more than 2,000 were in default in 1933. At one point, 17.7 per cent of all municipal bonds were in default.

Size of the government unit provided no immunity from the financial crisis. Detroit went into default, and so did Grand Rapids, Mich. The study shows that Michigan helped by taking over all relief payments for Grand Rapids.

According to the study, there was a "high incident of repayment of defaulted principal and interest in a comparatively short period of time" as cities recouped from the depression.

All 48 cities with populations of more than 25,000 that went bankrupt were out of default by 1938.

It took the smaller communities somewhat longer, but municipalities with populations of 10,000 and more had settled their default problems by 1945.

Since World War II, there have been few serious defaults.

A total of 431 were reported to the commission. But at least 306 were technical and temporary, involving small municipal units where the debts were locally held.

Bacon 'the most dangerous food'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department plans to force the nation's bacon producers to remove a dangerous cancer-causing agent from the breakfast table favorite — or stop selling bacon as it is now known.

Dr. Donald Houston, assistant deputy administrator in the USDA's Meat and Poultry Inspection Division, said the decision follows an 18-month study by a panel of scientific experts looking into the dangers of sodium nitrite, a commonly used preservative in cured meats.

Nitrites give cured products such as ham, bologna and hot dogs their pinkish color and kept meats from spoiling long before refrigerators and freezers were available. They now are added to meats because they prevent botulism, the dangerous food poisoning.

But nitrites also can combine with chemicals to form nitrosamines, among the most potent cancer-causing agents yet discovered. Scientists are not sure why, but while problems have been eliminated in most meat products, bacon produces more nitrosamines than other cured meats.

One of the nation's favorite breakfast foods, bacon has been called "the most dangerous food in the supermarket" by one critic, Dr. Michael F. Jacobson of the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

The American Meat Institute said 1.4 billion pounds of sliced bacon was produced in plants under federal inspection in 1974. It estimated total 1974 consumption, including bacon produced in state-inspected plants, at 1.6 billion pounds.

"There is no evidence to indicate we have a nitrosamine problem in anything but bacon," Houston said in an interview. "We will probably require certain actions by the industry within a specified period to remove nitrosamines from bacon or take some action so that the produce as we now know it will not be available."

New rules for the bacon industry will be published, Houston said, when the Agriculture Department proposed regulations to reduce nitrites added to meat and poultry products.

Houston said the scientific panel concluded current levels "are not needed, not necessary," but the industry still will be allowed to add enough nitrite to prevent botulism.

He said the new rules will be published for comment soon, and the Agriculture Department may hold public hearings on them.

Asked how long the industry will be given to remove nitrosamines or stop selling bacon, Houston replied, "It's going to have to be a relatively short time period. It's not going to drag on for years or anything like that."

Houston said bacon being produced now will continue to be sold. The reason is: if you eliminate nitrites you end up with a potential problem with botulism.

Congress returns from week-long recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress returns from a week-long recess Monday, prepared to drive for adjourment by the middle of December. A number of major obstacles remain.

With about eight weeks left, the first session of the 94th Congress must still put together an overall energy package; battle the administration on the size of the defense budget; consider substantial new aid to Israel; decide on a tax cut; push through remaining appropriations, and go through a maze of other bills and proposals.

Senate-Houe conferees resume negotiations Monday on an energy package. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said he was 95 per cent sure Congress will adopt one before the Nov. 15 expiration of the freeze on oil price controls.

The Senate also plans to complete action on natural gas legislation, with a final vote set Friday in an effort to assure supplies for areas facing a winter shortage.

On the basis of test votes — which could be reversed during the week — the best bet appears to be a proposal by Sens. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., and Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex.

Their plan would allow winter emergency sales at any price the market can bear and then, over a period of years, permanently remove the natural gas price ceiling — now at 51 cents per thousand cubic feet.

The Pearson-Bentzen proposal was substituted for an emergency measure which would have allowed sales — during the coming winter only — at $1.30 per thousand cubic feet.

The House has scheduled only routine legislation for a bobtailed work week which ends Thursday. Both the Senate and House will be in recess a week from Monday for Veterans Day.

New York City — temporarily rescued from bankruptcy but rebuffed by President Ford last week — apparently will find more sympathy in Congress.

The Senate Intelligence Committee will hold three days of public hearings on the opening of American mail by the CIA and FBI, and meet in private Thursday to discuss covert actions by the intelligence community.

Tuesday a House judiciary subcommittee begins the first congressional investigation of published allegations that the FBI ignored advance warnings of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

U.N. eyes Spanish Sahara invasion

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. Security Council will meet Monday to consider Spain's protest that a planned invasion of Spanish Sahara by 350,000 unarmed Moroccans — with King Hassan II at their head — is a threat to peace.

Security Council President Olof Rydbeck of Sweden announced the session late Saturday at the request of Spanish Ambassador Jaime de Pinies.

Spain has said it plans to withdraw from the mineral-rich colony in North Africa "as soon as possible" and to hold a U.N.-sponsored referendum to let the 88,000 Saharans decide their own political destiny.

Morocco claims tribal chieftains in the Sahara are loyal to King Hassan.

De Pinies told Rydbeck the march "besides endangering the international peace and security ignores the rights of the people of the Sahara to self-determination."

In the General Assembly, meanwhile, Israel faced another battle in its efforts to kill a resolution equating Zionism with racism.

Israeli Ambassador Chaim Herzog said he hoped the assembly will reject the resolution. He added he was encouraged by the defection of some African nations from the Arab cause.

The assembly's Social Committee, which includes representatives from all 142 U.N. member nations, voted 70-29 with 27 abstentions Friday for the Arab-sponsored resolution.

The assembly itself must now vote on the measure saying Zionism is "a form of racism and racial discrimination."

If it approves, it would commit the United Nations to eliminating Zionism everywhere. Israel contends Zionism, the political basis for founding the nation, is an integral part of the Jewish religion.

"This was the first major act of international anti-Semitism since Hitler," Herzog said in a weekend interview. "I do hope wiser councils will prevail before the General Assembly votes."

The U.S. position, expressed by Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan and delegate Leonard Garment, called the resolution "an obscene act" that "places the work of the United Nations in jeopardy."

New Venezuela oil price list due this week

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuela will announce a new price list for its oil exports this week to bring the nation's oil revenues in line with the 10 per cent increase announced last month by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Government oil experts said application of OPEC's price hike has been a delicate juggling operation since Venezuela's refined products are already high-priced.

A major supplier of U.S. oil imports, Venezuela currently exports more than two million barrels of oil a day at an average of $13.50 per barrel.

The oil experts said Venezuela will apply the full 10 per cent hike but will try to spread it out so as not to harm its already weak competitive position.

The differentials or premiums payments for quality and transport advantages that Venezuela adds onto its prices above OPEC levels account for the nation's uncompetitive prices.

A number of OPEC members recently shaved their differentials in line with falling world demand for oil and the current depression in the world tanker market.

More Americans arrive in Sinai oil fields

Four more American oil technicians have arrived at the Ras Sudar oil complex in the Sinai to help in transferring control of the fields captured by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war to Egypt, the Israeli national radio said Sunday. It brought to seven the number of Mobil Oil Co. technicians at the field on the Gulf of Suez which Israel is scheduled to surrender Nov. 15 under the interim peace agreement with Egypt.

President Anwar Sadat told Parliament Saturday night in Cairo that Egypt is still prepared to go to war despite the peace accord with Israel negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The natural gas shortage means much more to residential users because the gas priority system interrupts service to industry first, in a shortage.

Mount Prospect wants land

Panel OKs church disannexation

by LYNN ASINOF

A proposal to disannex St. Cecilia's Church on Golf Road from Arlington Heights so it can become part of Mount Prospect Saturday received the blessings of the public health and safety committee of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The committee said it would endorse the disannexation if church officials write to the board requesting such action. The endorsement came as part of boundary negotiations between Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect officials over an unincorporated area between Arlington Heights and Meier roads.

Mount Prospect officials have been seeking the disannexation, saying that church officials prefer to be within their village boundaries. The church is served by Mount Prospect sewer and water lines, and a Mount Prospect retention basin is located on church property. Reportedly about 60 per cent of the parish members live in Mount Prospect.

The Rev. James Prendergast of St. Cecilia's Saturday declined to comment on the matter, saying he will have to contact the archdiocese. "This has to be taken up with downtown before I do anything," he said.

OFFICIALS FROM BOTH towns agreed to set Douglas Avenue as the eventual boundary between the two villages in the area bounded by Central Road on the north and Golf Road on the south. The boundary would jog east at Lawrence Lane to avoid Prairie Park and then continue south along the church property if this land is disannexed.

The 42-acre Magnus Farm property in the northern part of this unincorporated area was not included in the boundary agreement. Officials from both towns said they didn't care which community won jurisdiction over the property as long as it was not the site of an objectionable development.

"I don't care if it is developed under the jurisdiction of Albania as long as it is a palatable development," said Arlington Heights Trustee Richard J. Durava.

Arlington Heights Trustee Madeline Schroeder said the boundary agreement may produce some problems since it will place part of the Arlington Heights Park District in Mount Prospect.

Recommendations on the proposed boundary agreement will be presented to both village boards for final action.

Farm single-family zoning urged

Committees from Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights this week will ask their village boards to oppose multi-family county zoning for the 42-acre Magnus Farm property.

The committees Saturday recommended urging the county to zone the property for high-density single-family use with a special-use that would permit construction of more facilities for the elderly.

The meeting was prompted by county efforts to develop a comprehensive land-use plan, which currently has the Magnus property, 801 E. Central Rd., slated for multi-family zoning allowing up to 17.4 units per acre.

OFFICIALS FROM both villages said they are afraid this zoning will give Magnus a "blank check" for undesirable development if plans to expand his home for the elderly fall through.

Magnus presented tentative development plans for the property, including construction of two 5-story buildings on the southern part of the property. These buildings would combine one-and two-bedroom units with dining facilities and other services.

The northern part of the property would be developed with a number of two-story quadroplex buildings, which like the five story buildings, would be rented by the unit.

"This thing has been under fairly intensive study," Magnus said. He said the development would cater to persons 52 years and older, primarily retired persons with no children. The plan allows parking for one car per two dwelling units.

NOTING THAT Magnus would have to get a special-use permit under any of the residential zoning classifications, committee members asked why he was opposing the single-family zoning.

Magnus said the multi-family zoning would make it easier to obtain building permits if any remodeling was to be done to the property.

If both towns object, 12 of the 16 county commissioners will have to favor the zoning for it to win approval.

The committee members agreed that Arlington Heights Village Atty. Jack Siegel should attend the upcoming zoning hearing Friday. Representatives of both villages are to meet again to discuss plans for the property, depending on the outcome of the hearing.

Siegel said that if the multi-family zoning is approved, the villages can file suit. He said they can also block development of the property through village subdivision powers or by tying the project up with red tape.

Magnus indicated the land will have to be annexed to one of the villages before development can take place. He said he does not have sufficient water to service the 728 units now planned. Development is not expected to begin until economic conditions improve.

Village asks board OK to seek federal funds

The Arlington Heights Village Board will be asked Monday to consider applying for federal funds under the U.S. Housing and Community Development Act.

The act provides more than $2.1 million for the village through 1980, with 1976's share being $295,000. The federal money is to be used for revitalization of communities or development of programs and projects.

Last year the village board voted against seeking $175,000 under the act. In voting down the application, trustees said there were too many "strings" tied to the federal money.

THE VILLAGE administration will prepare a program to use the $295,000 with concentration on the central business district if the board decides to pursue the grant.

The administration also is asking that the board's finance committee review the development program and hold the four required public hearings on the application.

If the board follows the administration's recommendations, a program should be submitted to them for approval in January.

Village Pres. James T. Ryan, who voted to apply for the funds last year, has urged the board to follow through on the grant.

"I think it was a mistake and an expensive one, because it would have returned revenue that should have come back to the community," Ryan said of the board's decision last year.

THE VILLAGE is eligible for $451,000 under the act in 1977 and for $459,000 for each of the next three years after that.

Ryan will also make a report to trustees. When contacted, he said he had not had an opportunity to discuss it with the other members of the board and declined to reveal the subject.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Window smashing spree ends in arrest

An Arlington Heights man and a juvenile boy were arrested Friday night for allegedly smashing about $225 worth of car windows in Buffalo Grove.

Craig Graham, 18, of 514 Burning Tree Ln., was charged with criminal damage. The juvenile was released to the custody of his parents pending action by the police department's juvenile bureau.

They were arrested after police stopped their car and found a two-foot lead pipe, police said. The cars were parked at 294 Regent Dr., 565 Beachwood Rd., and 544 White Pine Rd.

Graham was released after posting $1,000 bond pending an appearance Nov. 18 in the Arlington Heights brnch of Circuit Court.

Teachers rally to 'stick together'

by TONI GINNETTI

It started almost like a classroom test, with papers and instructions handed out. It ended like a pep rally as nearly 700 Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 teachers called for solidarity in their strike.

Teachers from the 27 schools of the state's largest elementary district filed into the second floor banquet room at The Lancer Steak House restaurant, Schaumburg, at 4 p.m. planning the Monday picketing strategy. But the general meeting quickly turned to a spirited assembly with one overriding goal — to convince each other to stick together in the walkout.

"We have to be united," Arthur Neil, union president, told the cheering group. "No matter what anybody tells you. Our strength is in our unity."

SOME OF THE teachers questioned what will happen if a court injunction orders them back to school. What will happen to nontenured teachers if the strike goes on in defiance of an injunction, others asked? What protection will they have?

"Your protection is all around you," IEA attorney Lawrence Weiner told them.

"We will never go back without amnesty," another teacher shouted to the cheers of his fellows.

"In a district this size, your strength is in your numbers," Weiner said. "I don't think there is anything more important that I could say than stick together."

"There is no way this board is going to fly in the face of the community and fire 700, 800 or 900 teachers if we stick together," another teacher yelled to a standing ovation.

"You will prevail," Elgin teacher union president Mel Smith, a veteran of five strikes, told them. "You have to continue picketing together and sticking together. The only way you come back is with a negotiated settlement."

against you," the letter states.

The letter also states that striking tenured teachers not only face dismissal from the district but are "liable for the suspension of your teaching certificate."

IEA REPRESENTATIVE David Tomchek said the board's letter "is not faithful to the procedure of dismissing" tenured teachers. Tomcheck said the letter was not sent by registered mail and that the board "has to act on the name of each teacher individually" rather than in a mass mailing.

Teachers were told at an afternoon rally Sunday that picketing will continue today. "You have probably noticed that the board has threatened to fire you," states a leaflet distributed to teachers from the union. "As long as we all stay strong that cannot happen. The board must realize that also because they are going to court Monday to seek an injunction. We will wait to see the injunction."

The board's attorney is expected to be in Circuit Court today to seek an injunction ordering teachers back to work. The board failed to file for the injunction Friday because paper work had not been completed.

Union officials received copies of the injunction, hand-delivered by district administrators, this weekend. The injunction asks that teachers be ordered to return to work and seeks damages from the union for the loss of state aid, legal costs, the expenses incurred by the shutting down of construction and renovation work at schools.

Mount Prospect wants land

Panel OKs church disannexation

by LYNN ASINOF

A proposal to disannex St. Cecilia's Church on Golf Road from Arlington Heights so it can become part of Mount Prospect Saturday received the blessings of the public health and safety committee of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The committee said it would endorse the disannexation if church officials write to the board requesting such action. The endorsement came as part of boundary negotiations between Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect officials over an unincorporated area between Arlington Heights and Meier roads.

Mount Prospect officials have been seeking the disannexation, saying that church officials prefer to be within their village boundaries. The church is served by Mount Prospect sewer and water lines, and a Mount Prospect retention basin is located on church property. Recommendations on the proposed boundary agreement will be presented to both village boards for final action.

Farm single-family zoning urged

Committees from Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights this week will ask their village boards to oppose multi-family county zoning for the 42-acre Magnus Farm property.

The committees Saturday recommended urging the county to zone the property for high-density single-family use with a special-use that would permit construction of more facilities for the elderly.

The meeting was prompted by county efforts to develop a comprehensive land-use plan, which currently has the Magnus property, 801 E. Central Rd., slated for multi-family zoning allowing up to 17.4 units per acre.

Village youth serves as king's flower girl

An Arlington Heights youngster acted as flower girl last week at King Olav's visit to the Norwegian Lutheran Memorial Church of Chicago.

Lillian Dahl, a third grader at Poe Elementary School, presented the King with a nosegay of red, white and blue flowers.

The church, 3608 N. Kedzie Ave., is the only Norwegian language church in the city.

against you," the letter states.

The letter also states that striking tenured teachers not only face dismissal from the district but are "liable for the suspension of your teaching certificate."

IEA REPRESENTATIVE David Tomchek said the board's letter "is not faithful to the procedure of dismissing" tenured teachers. Tomcheck said the letter was not sent by registered mail and that the board "has to act on the name of each teacher individually" rather than in a mass mailing.

Teachers were told at an afternoon rally Sunday that picketing will continue today. "You have probably noticed that the board has threatened to fire you," states a leaflet distributed to teachers from the union. "As long as we all stay strong that cannot happen. The board must realize that also because they are going to court Monday to seek an injunction. We will wait to see the injunction."

The board's attorney is expected to be in Circuit Court today to seek an injunction ordering teachers back to work. The board failed to file for the injunction Friday because paper work had not been completed.

Union officials received copies of the injunction, hand-delivered by district administrators, this weekend. The injunction asks that teachers be ordered to return to work and seeks damages from the union for the loss of state aid, legal costs, the expenses incurred by the shutting down of construction and renovation work at schools.

A FEW MOMENTS of conversation with a patient is just one of the duties of the Rev. Ron Buck, Northwest Community Hospital's first chaplain. The Rev. Buck began his duties last week.

'Spiritual dimension' of healing

Minister joins hospital staff

by LINDA PUNCH

A plaque in the office of the Rev. Ron Buck quotes an unknown occupant of a German concentration camp:

"I believe in the sun even when it's not shining. I believe in love even when not feeling it. I believe in God even when He's silent."

Those three sentences "say a lot about where I am," said the Rev. Buck, who joined the staff of Northwest Community Hospital last week as hospital chaplain.

THE REV. BUCK is the hospital's first chaplain and he sees the major emphasis of his job as "the spiritual dimension of people and how it affects their physical and mental health."

"I believe every person has a spiritual dimension to their being. Religion is an institutional form to give expression to that spiritual side. I'm not talking about Lutheran, Catholic, Jewish or Greek Orthodox. I'm talking about a living presence in people that crosses all denominational lines," he said.

The Rev. Buck will work not only with patients but also with hospital staff members. His job is a combination of counseling and education. He sees his position as the hospital's way of saying "we recognize the spiritual dimension in the healing process."

"The hospital administration is saying they see man as a total being rather than a fragmented part," he said.

Local clergy will work closely with the Rev. Buck in his work and he notes that "the local pastor probably has the best relationship with his parishioner."

"DUE TO MY training and my education, I would have a little deeper perspective and understanding of the problems of the patient and the family. I can sometimes facilitate better communication between the patient and the staff and the patient and his own pastor," he said.

The Rev. Buck said much of his work will involve terminally ill patients and their families.

"Dying patients go through stages — sometimes we're able to help them move to the final stage of acceptance before they die," he said.

The Rev. Buck has a degree in social work and a masters of divinity from the Lutheran School of Theology, Chicago. He said his job as hospital chaplain allows him "to bring together my social work training and religion. It's a way for me to spend my life and be happy," he said.

"There are very rewarding times when you see a patient and his family come through a very traumatic time and a new and deepened relationship happens in that family," he said.

French worms turn heads– and stomachs

by MAXINE YEE

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A dish with a fancy French name like "ver de terre" is bound to become an appetite pleaser, but when it translates into simple English, it may turn more than just the stomach.

"Ver de terre" is the French name for earthworms. These little ground creatures can be baked in cookies, added to casseroles or sprinkled on salads. The best results using this ingredient are obtained only after they have been cooked.

To convince the American public that earthworms are more than fish bait or land savers, the North American Bait Farms Inc. of Ontario, Calif., is conducting a contest, with a prize of $500, to find the best earthworm recipe.

RONALD GADDIE, president of the company, said, "These little creatures offer many benefits to man which we have only begun to recognize. They can turn waste into fertilizer for plants, they can feed fish and other animals, and properly prepared they make excellent eating for people."

However, Gaddie, a connoisseur of "ver de terre," admitted with a smile, "they are something of an acquired taste."

Employes at North American Bait are living testimonials that earthworms are not only edible and safe to eat, but they even taste good. As for the nutritional value, they are low in calories and are 70 per cent protein.

"They're extremely good," said Barbara Hickox, office manager for North American Bait. She readily consumes redworm cookies, but admits she sometimes has trouble stomaching things with night crawlers.

"The American redworm cookies with an oatmeal base are really quite good and crunchy," she said. "It leaves to your imagination what they taste like."

SHE SAID different people who have tried the redworm cookies have different impressions of what they're eating.

She said people sometimes are convinced they're eating cookies made up of dates, raisins and even coconut — never redworms.

"It's up to your imagination," she said.

She said the key to making earthworm dishes is boiling them to cleanse them. From there, they can be baked in cookies and casseroles or left to the culinary skills of the chef. She also said the worms can be baked in the oven and then broken up and sprinkled on salads.

"They're great for dieters," she said.

Some of the recipes submitted for the contest include "Earthworm Omelette" and "Sauteed Earthworms and Zucchini."

Ask Andy

Thick resin keeps pine tree tough

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Rosanne Cull, 11, of Toronto, Ont., Canada, for her question:

WHY DON'T PINE TREES SHED THEIR NEEDLES?

Every summer countless visitors arrive to admire the scenic beauty of Ontario. However, the late comers who arrive in the fall have a chance to behold the beauteous autumn colors. Then the maples are decked in papery scarlet and the white-legged birches are hung with golden pennies. And among the dazzling rainbow colors stand the pines with their same old evergreen boughs.

When you walk among shady evergreen pines, you notice a fresh, tangy fragrance. It comes from the gummy resins in the needles and wood of these conifer trees. Some of it comes from the living trees, but most of it comes from the ground. There you walk on a springy carpet of old fallen needles, turning brown as they slowly decay.

A pine tree does not don candy colors in the fall and shed its needles as the maples and birches shed their leaves. But it does shed some of its needles. So do all the wide-leafed tropical evergreens, though they do not shed them all at once and go bare through the winter.

The papery leaves of maples and birches are too fragile to withstand the wintry weather. The frost would penetrate their thin cell walls and turn their liquid sap to ice. Daggers of ice would tear the delicate cells apart. This is why the deciduous trees shed their leaves in the fall. The leaves of a pine tree are tough needles with coats of resin, thick enough to seal out the frost.

This is one reason why a pine tree can keep its leaves all year. Another reason is its shape. Those thick furry boughs slope down like the pointed roof of a house, which is just right for shedding a heavy load of snow. So the pine tree does not have to lose all its sturdy leaves in the fall. However, even those tough green needles grow old and useless.

The average pine needle may stay in good working condition for two or three years. Then it falls to the ground and new ones grow in to replace it. This may happen at any time of the year, though it usually happens in the spring when evergreen trees put on tufts of new growth to bear their cones.

In the fall the maples and birches strew thick layers of old rusty leaves on the ground. But come spring they have decayed and disappeared. Not so the old pine needles. Those tough little needles are slow to decay. Some of the fallen needles under a pine tree may have been there for six or seven years. And this year a few more will be added to the springy brown carpet.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Mike Tutcher, 9, of Venice, Fla., for his question:

WHY DOESN'T A SPIDER GET CAUGHT IN HER WEB?

The clever spider wakes up early and builds her web before breakfast. She spins her silken threads from tiny faucets at the end of her body. The stuff comes out in liquid form and dries in the air. First she strings strong lines from side to side, crossing them in the center. Then she goes to the center and starts to weave the cross threads around and around in a growing spiral.

As she weaves the spiral, now and then she stops to add a drop of sticky goo and twang a thread with one of her back feet. Only these cross threads are sticky. When the web is done, she hides in a corner. Soon a fly zooms into the web. he touches the sticky threads, and the more he struggles the more he gets stuck in a tangle. Then the spider trips forth on her eight legs. Naturally she steps only on the nonsticky threads — which is why she never gets caught in her own web.

A look at short club method of bidding

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Jim: "We have had quite a few questions about the so-called short club. You were one of the inventors weren't you?"

Oswald: "Probably the inventor. Way back in 1933 or 1934 I suggested that a hand such as North's be opened one club rather than one spade. That club bid was a general utility bid. It guaranteed at least three clubs to an honor and partner was supposed to assume we held four. It was in no sense a forcing bid and just never seemed to get us into trouble."

Jim: "I see you have picked a hand which shows the bid at its best. The club opening enables North and South to get to a nice comfortable two hearts. Careful play brings the contract home with an overtrick."

Oswald: "If North opens one spade South responds one notrump. The hand plays there and South will probably make one notrump."

Jim: "There is a lot of difference between three hearts and one notrump in a match point game and that 50 points is worth something in rubber bridge. Incidentally, if West tries to compete with a three-diamond bid he is likely to be set three tricks doubled."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Want to warn you about a Congressman making surprise visits to agencies.
Oh, hi, Mr. Simon!

The almanac

(by United Press International)

Today is Monday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1975 with 72 to follow.

The moon is full.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Mercury and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Libra.

American educator John Dewey was born Oct. 20, 1859.

On this day in history:

• In 1918, Germany accepted American President Woodrow Wilson's terms to end World War I.

• In 1944, American troops began a campaign to recapture the island of Leyte in the Philippines.

• In 1964, Herbert Hoover, 31st president of the United States, died at the age of 90.

• In 1973, President Nixon fired special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox; Attorney General Elliott Richardson and deputy William Ruckelshaus, refusing to dismiss Cox, resigned their posts.

A thought for the day: Herbert Hoover said, "Older men declare war. But it is youth that must fight and die."

The way we see it

Simon's 'walk' a needed step

Our often-cumbersome and sometimes inefficient federal bureaucracy should sit up and take notice that a man from Illinois named Pual Simon is taking a long, hard look at it.

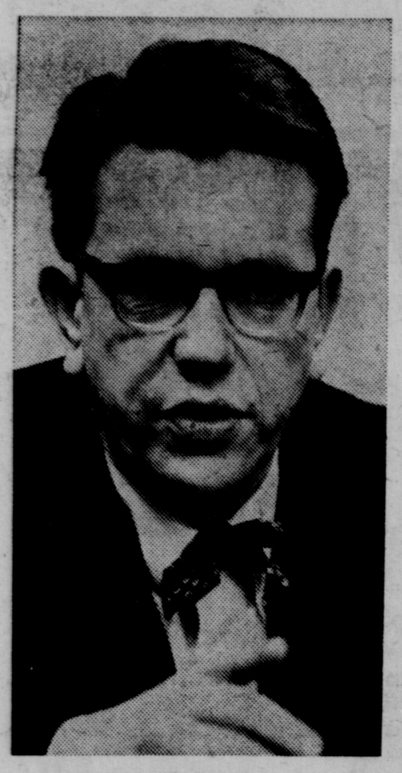
Simon, you may recall, was once a respected and successful legislator and lieutenant governor of our state. He won a seat in Congress in 1974, two years after Daniel Walker defeated him for the governor nomination in the Democratic primary.

In one sense Simon has stolen a trick from Walker's successful campaign, in which Walker walked the length of Illinois to win votes, for the 46-year-old Simon has been taking a quiet walk through the halls of the federal government.

According to press reports Rep. Simon has dropped in unannounced in various federal agencies, including the Interior Department, the U.S. Railway Assn., the Civil Service Commission, the Labor Department and the Postal Service.

But Simon hasn't stopped to talk with the top administrators. No, he's wandered through the federal offices to talk with middle and lower-level bureaucrats. He's seeking their ideas on how to run government, and he's a good listener.

There's always the danger that such well intended reformers as Simon will tactlessly interefere in the business of government without realizing that their role is one of legislator, not administrator.



PAUL SIMON

But Simon, in his crisp and efficient fashion, is reported to be gathering information for legislation. If that's his method, he is to be commended.

In fact, other legislators in Washington and Springfield, Ill., should consider adopting Simon's style. The faults of big government will only be corrected when our legislators order them corrected. But first, legislators themselves must spot the flaws.

So, Paul Simon, keep pacing the floors of the federal bureaucracy. Your walks serve a purpose. We hope that other legislators follow in your footsteps.

A decent old man who shouldn't be forgotten

He died without any great wealth, political power or social standing. His belongings were meager and the obituary on Oct. 7 said he left no immediate family.

Gailey Wadsworth was his name. You may have seen him in downtown Palatine in the morning, as he walked about town to visit with the men and women who work at Erich's, at the Jewel or at Hansen Hardware.

From a distance, he may have seemed like a vagrant, a man with no place to go, a man out of place. But if you talk to the many persons who work and shop in Palatine and knew him, Gailey Wadsworth was a respected, interesting and lovable old man who was much more of a good friend than a nuisance.

Even though Gailey Wadsworth was one of the hundreds of Northwest suburban residents who die every year, somehow it seems important to single him out for a special comment. It seems to us important to remember a man who meant something special to Palatine residents, even though perhaps many of them did not even know his name.

Linda Pozdro, who works in Hansen's Hardware and was a friend of Gailey Wadsworth, said it best of all: "He was too beautiful a man to die without recognition." For this man, there is no finer epitaph.

The dedication and open house festivities at our Freeman Boulevard and Moon Lake Boulevard fire stations on Oct. 4 and 5 were a huge success.

More of our residents took advantage of the opportunity to learn about Hoffman Estates' professional fire fighting and paramedic services than we ever dared to hope.

Certainly, the excellent coverage of the plans for the events by The Herald contributed immeasurably to the high level of interest expressed by an estimated 1,600 Hoffman Estates residents who toured our stations.

Our sincere thanks for your generous advance publicity.

I am amazed at the coverage, or rather the lack of coverage, by your paper of the open house and dedication ceremonies Saturday and Sunday of the new Hoffman Estates Fire Department facilities.

Even with casual observation, it was evident that much preparation and forethought was involved in the planning of the dedication. Your paper "generously" gave it a few small paragraphs, almost as an afterthought, and not one photograph!

When I read some of the trivia offered as news by The Herald at times, I am appalled by your reporters' lack of interest and disregard for the formal opening of one of the finest equipped and professionally staffed firefighting facilities in the country.

Beware of flammable costumes!

'Halloween can be hazardous'

by MARK FUERST

Suddenly, children become monsters — grotesque images flitting through the night.

A vampire, a skeleton, a witch all haunt the streets. Funny characters are seen too, for it's Halloween night.

A young lady becomes Cinderella in Mom's flowing dress, high heels and lots of make-up. Her brother is a pirate with long cape, rusty sword, false beard and plastic mask.

Fun, perhaps, but these children's costumes could hurt them.

There are many dangers associated with Halloween costumes. A major one is fire, mainly because people forget that some fabrics are highly flammable. Flimsy fabrics and synthetic wigs are the most dangerous according to June Needle of the Food and Drug Administration's Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

Tight weave or heavy, close fitting fabrics burn slower and are less dangerous, Miss Needle says. The fiber a costume is made of is also important. Cotton is the most flammable natural fiber and wool the least flammable. Synthetics fall in between but are known to melt and drip and can cause serious burns.

Another Halloween hazard associated with costumes is falling down. Cuts and scrapes are the most frequently reported injuries, Miss Needle says, but accidents can be more serious. She suggests parents eliminate long, trailing clothes and sharp objects from costumes. Plastic masks may impair vision, she warns, and suggests that children smear their faces with charcoal or make-up instead.

The National Safety Council warns trick or treaters to watch out for cars; parental supervision is suggested for children walking on roads.

Parents and children should check the contents of trick or treat bags carefully. Only treats in unbroken wrappers should be eaten as a general rule.

Traditional Halloween candles can also be dangerous and flashlights are much safer, Miss Needle says. If candles are used in jack-o-lanterns, avoid putting them near drapes or other flammable objects.

The National Fire Protection Assn. tests the flammability of textiles used for clothes. It also classifies the flammability of non-textile costume articles such as false wigs and beards.

The CPSC also tests children's sleepwear for flammability. Those that don't comply with federal standards are labeled flammable.

The safety commission is currently testing Halloween costumes for flammability. Some costume makers are labeling their products flame retardant if they pass the federal standards. "Even though the costume says it's flame retardant doesn't mean it won't burn," Miss Needle says.

Yet, the safety commission has received few reports of fire injuries from Halloween costumes, James Winger, chief programmer for fire prevention products at the National Bureau of Standards, says costumes generally meet federal standards and approach the same level as children's sleepwear in retardant effectiveness.

Most companies voluntarily set high safety standards. Winger says this method is satisfactory and saves the government paper work and money.

But potential danger is always present. All clothing is flammable to some degree. Clothing fires burn hundreds of thousands of people annually, mostly children and old people. If people knew the dangers, they might be able to avoid many of them, he said.

Halloween is a fun time for children, but the accident potential is more dangerous than ghosts or hobgoblins ever were.

A NEW LOOK for an old mink. Gloria Cobb, seamstress, lecturer and writer from Milwaukee, models her newest remake to be featured in November's Woman's Day magazine. The fake suede jacket, updated with drop sleeves, is lined in an old mink coat making it reversible.

THE HIGH DEGREE of inner tailoring, available mainly in men's clothing, can be easily preserved through remakes. Gloria demonstrates how pieces of fabric are whittled down.

Don't toss 'em out!

Expert tells the ladies how to recycle garments

EAGER SEWERS look on as Gloria explains the money-saving aspects of clothes recycling. "What you save hubby in sewing, you can make up for in accessories," she chuckled. She also urged seamstresses to keep garments uncluttered and simple.

by KAREN THOMPSON

The old shortie coat hanging in your cedar closet waiting for a revival is not a lost cause. Neither is your husband's old-style tuxedo or that out-of-date mink coat you inherited from Aunt Nellie.

Gloria Cobb, lecturer and writer of the recycling series currently appearing in Woman's Day magazine, is a master at whittling, cutting and refurbishing the old clothes most people would toss in a Salvation Army drop box.

Speaking before the area Christian Women's Club, Gloria stepped onto the runway in a plaid jacket and navy skirt — rather ordinary fall fashion fare. But, the packed audience was amazed when she admitted that the lovely outfit had once been her husband's blazer and a pair of men's suit pants she picked up in a resale shop.

"It's a very exciting time in fashion," said Mrs. Cobb. "But clothes are so very expensive it's driving women to sew again — some 50 million of them."

THE CARDINAL rule in remaking is that you can only cut down, she warned. "You will be working with very little material and must choose a pattern with lines similar to the old garment."

Into the closet again and Gloria, a housewife in the Milwaukee suburb of Wauwatosa, is back on stage in a $10 coat, another resale store salvage. "Fashion is faddish items that last only five years at the most," she explained. "Style is something that lasts forever. It's quality fabric, fine color, good silhouette."

The coat, fashioned in a high-quality imported tweed, was an example of style. "The home sewer doesn't have to put aside quality," she said.

How does one go about making an old coat into a new jacket? After you have chosen a pattern that is similar in line, the old garment is taken apart. Then you simply lay the pattern on the old pieces and cut them out. Gloria suggests placing the pattern pieces, when possible, to salvage as much as possible of the previous tailoring — the pockets, buttonholes, etc. This saves on material waste.

"Perfection should never be put aside, but many times when you're remaking a garment, there are a few flaws that you must put up with," said Gloria. "If you enjoy wearing the garment and feel good in it, no one else will notice anyway."

SHE DESCRIBED remakes as "knowing the rules of sewing then breaking them intelligently." She also warned that there are no shortcuts to alterations, but there is no end to the possibilities for change.

Gloria's talk was spiced with hints for the home sewer whether remaking or starting from scratch. "The good sewer is a copier," she explained. "Copy the manufacturer. Go to stores. Look inside the clothes to see how they are made. Try them on to see how they fit."

The fashion designer passed on a few of her shortcuts:

- A small florist's wire in the collar of a coat makes the collar stand up.
- A fishing line run through the edge of a scarf makes the faggoting fluffier.
- A small piece of craft foam sewn into the shoulder of a dress makes a crisp seam.

How does one go about making an old coat into a new jacket? After you have chosen a pattern that is similar in line, the old garment is taken apart. Then you simply lay the pattern on the old pieces and cut them out. Gloria suggests placing the pattern pieces, when possible, to salvage as much as possible of the previous tailoring — the pockets, buttonholes, etc. This saves on material waste.

"Perfection should never be put aside, but many times when you're remaking a garment, there are a few flaws that you must put up with," said Gloria. "If you enjoy wearing the garment and feel good in it, no one else will notice anyway."

SHE DESCRIBED remakes as "knowing the rules of sewing then breaking them intelligently." She also warned that there are no shortcuts to alterations, but there is no end to the possibilities for change.

Gloria's talk was spiced with hints for the home sewer whether remaking or starting from scratch. "The good sewer is a copier," she explained. "Copy the manufacturer. Go to stores. Look inside the clothes to see how they are made. Try them on to see how they fit."

The fashion designer passed on a few of her shortcuts:

- A small florist's wire in the collar of a coat makes the collar stand up.
- A fishing line run through the edge of a scarf makes the faggoting fluffier.
- A small piece of craft foam sewn into the shoulder of a dress makes a crisp seam.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Beck

Rust and gold color scheme for Thomas-Beck wedding

Fall shades of rust and yellow formed the color scheme for the Sept. 20 wedding of Elizabeth Ann Thomas of Arlington Heights and John Jerome Beck of Wilmette. The double ring rites were performed in St. James Catholic Church at 3 p.m.

Later there was a dinner reception for 150 at Salt Creek Country Club, Itasca, and after a few days at Pheasant Run the newlyweds are living in an apartment in Wilmette.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas. She chose her sister, Claudia, as her maid of honor and the groom's sister, Julie Beck, and Terri Turkowski, Arlington Heights, as bridesmaids. All three were gowned in rust jersey with capelets in rust and cream. Each carried yellow and rust mums.

THE BRIDE WORE an organza gown with lace bodice and wide bands of lace on the three-tiered skirt. A tiara of lace and pearls held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

John is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Beck Young of Wilmette. His brother, James Beck, and Mark McFadzean, Wilmette, were groomsmen and Donald Ruth, Wilmette, served as best man.

The bride attended Arlington High School and is a dental assistant in Wilmette. Her husband, a graduate of New Trier High, is with LaSalle Crittendon Press Co., Chicago.

Armadillo-like critters are sow bugs

Dear Dorothy: For the first time I'm having to fend with a new kind of bug — little, slow-moving insects that look like tiny armadillos. There are armies of them, and the whole neighborhood is infested. Do you have any idea what they are — and how we can get rid of them? — Marci Malone

You're apt to shake your head when you read this. You've got sow bugs. Technically, they're marsupial crustaceans, kin to the lobster. They like damp places and live on rotting plant parts. They multiply too rapidly for comfort, laying eggs in pouches, 25 to 75 at a time. Malathion can be used to control them, but if you want to clean them out quickly join forces in cleaning up the area.

Dear Dorothy: Is there any way to freeze eggplant? —Mrs. A. J. Stempel

Yes, of course. Pick firm eggplant, yet not too mature so the seeds will be tender. Peel and cut into either one-third-inch slices or cubes. Scald in boiling water for four minutes. To prevent darkening, dip (anywhere from 10 seconds to a minute) in a solution of one-half teaspoon of ascorbic acid and one quart of water. Chill, then package. If you choose the sliced way, put a double thickness of waxed paper between them before the packaging.

Dear Dorothy: How can you tell whether to put snaps or hooks to hold a garment in place? And how can you make sure the two parts will be in exactly the right spots? —Florence Magruder

Use hooks and eyes when there is apt to be strain on the garment. The simplest way to make sure snaps and hooks meet exactly is to sew in one half, rub on a little chalk, press to the right spot, and sew it right there.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Beck

Rust and gold color scheme for Thomas-Beck wedding

Fall shades of rust and yellow formed the color scheme for the Sept. 20 wedding of Elizabeth Ann Thomas of Arlington Heights and John Jerome Beck of Wilmette. The double ring rites were performed in St. James Catholic Church at 3 p.m.

Later there was a dinner reception for 150 at Salt Creek Country Club, Itasca, and after a few days at Pheasant Run the newlyweds are living in an apartment in Wilmette.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas. She chose her sister, Claudia, as her maid of honor and the groom's sister, Julie Beck, and Terri Turkowski, Arlington Heights, as bridesmaids. All three were gowned in rust jersey with capelets in rust and cream. Each carried yellow and rust mums.

THE BRIDE WORE an organza gown with lace bodice and wide bands of lace on the three-tiered skirt. A tiara of lace and pearls held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

John is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Beck Young of Wilmette. His brother, James Beck, and Mark McFadzean, Wilmette, were groomsmen and Donald Ruth, Wilmette, served as best man.

The bride attended Arlington High School and is a dental assistant in Wilmette. Her husband, a graduate of New Trier High, is with LaSalle Crittendon Press Co., Chicago.

Armadillo-like critters are sow bugs

Dear Dorothy: For the first time I'm having to fend with a new kind of bug — little, slow-moving insects that look like tiny armadillos. There are armies of them, and the whole neighborhood is infested. Do you have any idea what they are — and how we can get rid of them? — Marci Malone

You're apt to shake your head when you read this. You've got sow bugs. Technically, they're marsupial crustaceans, kin to the lobster. They like damp places and live on rotting plant parts. They multiply too rapidly for comfort, laying eggs in pouches, 25 to 75 at a time. Malathion can be used to control them, but if you want to clean them out quickly join forces in cleaning up the area.

Dear Dorothy: Is there any way to freeze eggplant? —Mrs. A. J. Stempel

Yes, of course. Pick firm eggplant, yet not too mature so the seeds will be tender. Peel and cut into either one-third-inch slices or cubes. Scald in boiling water for four minutes. To prevent darkening, dip (anywhere from 10 seconds to a minute) in a solution of one-half teaspoon of ascorbic acid and one quart of water. Chill, then package. If you choose the sliced way, put a double thickness of waxed paper between them before the packaging.

Dear Dorothy: How can you tell whether to put snaps or hooks to hold a garment in place? And how can you make sure the two parts will be in exactly the right spots? —Florence Magruder

Use hooks and eyes when there is apt to be strain on the garment. The simplest way to make sure snaps and hooks meet exactly is to sew in one half, rub on a little chalk, press to the right spot, and sew it right there.

Grade school romance turns to marriage

Their romance started at St. Paul Lutheran School in eighth grade and on Sept. 13, Cynthia Grosnick and Gary Hames were married in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect.

Cynthia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Grosnick, Mount Prospect, chose her sister, Gail, as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Judy Harrison, Palatine; Gail Mrowczynski, Des Plaines; Susan Kimmens, Normal; Carolyn Hames, the groom's sister-in-law from Addison; and Cynthia Kiehl, the groom's cousin from Palatine.

Caralee Harrison, 6, preceded her aunt down the aisle as flower girl. Lisa Harrison, 10, another niece, played the flute and violin before the service and while the bride approached the altar.

GARY IS THE son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hames Jr., Mount Prospect. His brother, Tom, was best man and ushers for the double ring ceremony were Roger Harrison, the bride's brother-in-law from Palatine; Robert Eichelberg, Prospect Heights; Randall Kimmens, Normal; James Arlow, Mount Prospect; and Ronald Cooper Waukegan. Roger also sang during the ceremony.

Following a reception for 200 guests in the Penthouse Ballroom of Henrici's O'Hare Inn, the newlyweds left on a two-week honeymoon in Hawaii. They are now at home in a Des Plaines apartment.

Both 1972 graduates of Prospect High School, Cynthia is also a 1975 graduate of Lutheran General Hospital School of Nursing where she is employed, and Gary is employed by Bruce Automotive, Mount Prospect.

Schaumburg wins to move into playoffs

Saxons topple stubborn Prospect for South flag

by ART MUGALIAN

Schaumburg quarterback Russ Zonca was just beginning to come out of a post-game daze while his teammates were celebrating their 14-7 victory over Prospect Saturday, a victory that gave the unbeaten Saxons a second straight Mid-Suburban South title and a berth along with Hersey in the IHSA state playoffs.

Zonca, the multi-talented 190-pound senior, was still recovering from the bumps, aches and bruises administered by a ferocious Prospect defense that had keyed on him all day. Not that he didn't want to celebrate — but Zonca was too busy licking his wounds.

"I feel like I was in three wars and lost," he moaned, nursing his sore left ankle and his strained back as tears welled up involuntarily from the corners of his eyes.

"It seemed like everywhere I went, they had somebody there," Zonca explained.

The option-style quarterback had entered the game as the league's second-leading rusher, but the big and mobile Knight defensive unit limited Zonca to just 61 yards on the ground at Schaumburg Saturday.

"They were big and they hit hard," one Saxon noted after the game.

Zonca, sitting in the whirlpool after most of his teammates had gone, would agree.

"Zonca has played hurt for the past two weeks," coach Bob Ferguson said. "He knows what it means to play with pain."

The pain didn't stop the Schaumburg QB from throwing eight completions in 11 attempts for 180 yards.

"And if it hadn't been so windy, I think he might have thrown for a few more," Ferguson added.

Zonca hit halfback Steve Knudson with a pass over the middle early in the second quarter, and the junior speedster outraced the Prospect secondary for a 62-yard TD play.

"We had a breakdown in communications in the secondary," said Knight coach Dave Keefe, "and nobody was covering him"

Then Zonca kept a late first-half drive alive with a pair of aerials to senior halfback Scott Mielke. The second pass was hauled in by Mielke with a diving catch at the Knight 23 for a 39-yard gain.

Two plays later, Zonca rolled left, pitched to Mielke, and Mielke skipped down the sidelines for a 22-yard score.

The two first-half touchdowns wiped out Prospect's 7-0 lead which resulted from a Zonca fumble at the Saxon 20 halfway through the first quarter. Keith Mason tallied four plays later from the five.

"I thought we played them even except for a couple of plays," lamented Keefe. "We had letdowns, especially on those pass plays."

The tough loss was Prospect's third in seven games and knocked them out of the South race.

Ferguson acknowledged that Prospect was a tough, physical opponent for his Saxons, now 7-0.

"Their backs were big and strong," the Saxon coach said, "but we've got big guys too, and I feel we should have scored a couple more."

Prospect's defense, led by linemen Scott Doney, Chris Peterson, and Jeff Moore and linebacker Don Meyer, limited Schaumburg's fabled wishbone attack to just 149 yards rushing.

Opening quarter failures costly in Harper setback

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The College of DuPage, better known as COD to their faithful, delivered the cash on delivery and stuffed two Harper touchdown bids in the first quarter to win their North Central Community College Conference showdown 13-3 Saturday at North Central College.

The Chaparrals timely win fortressed their position as the best Juco football team in Illinois, boosting their record to a glittering 6-0 while the Hawks fell to 3-3 on the season.

"I think we lost because we couldn't score those two touchdowns in the first quarter," said Harper head coach John Eliasik. "I don't know how they would have responded if we had gotten two quick scores on them, but I know just about any team would have trouble recovering from something like that."

Indeed, the first quarter was the highwater mark for Harper's offense Saturday. They mauled the vaunted Chaps defense for 112 yards on the ground in the first period and twice were knocking on heaven's door.

Yet they came away with just three points instead of 14.

On Harper's first possession of the wind-chilled afternoon, quarterback Gary Mueller sucked the COD defense out of position off the option and rambled around the right side for a 50 yard gain to the Chaps' 10-yard line.

DuPage coach Fred Dempsey had some thoughts on Mueller's run: "I think he would have scored if he hadn't hurt his leg last year. He had our defense beaten badly, but because of his gimpy leg we were able to run him down."

Harper's attempts to negotiate the goal line bogged down, though, under the muscled ministrations of the COD defensive line. Jim Stump was chopped short at the three yard line on a third down play and Dave Patterson was called on to cash in Harper's only points of the day from 20 yards out.

The Hawks went back to work later in the quarter with Butch Allen, who rushed for 61 yards in 10 carries, breaking off runs of 17-and 18-yards sandwiched around a 15-yard sprint by Rick Lehnert.

From COD's 17-yard line Harper used an offside penalty to move to the 12 but lost it back on a delay of game penalty moments later. Again Patterson was brought out to try and salvage the drive but his 31-yard attempt was blown wide.

Then the Chaps' version of Dave Patterson, named Dave Patterson, went to work. A shifting, sliding runner Patterson teamed up with fullback Bill Nielsen for 192 yards rushing.

COD, under the expert direction of quarterback Kevin Steger, disdained the passing offense they had used with little success on their first possession and dealt exclusively on the ground. Patterson had runs of 12-, and 10-and eight-yards during the 17 play, 80-yard drive and finally snuck over from the two for COD's first touchdown. The extra point was wide.

Opening the third quarter Harper used some sleight of hand to keep a drive going on a fourth down and five situation. With DuWayne Mill back to punt the ball was snapped to blocking back Dugan McLaughlin who picked up 13 yards down the right sideline.

Harper went to the air then with Mueller throwing a near interception

Lions put best foot forward, 7-0

by DOUG PALM

Dame Fortune has given the St. Viator Liions little in the way of 'gifts' this season. Even in victory, St. Viator often appears to be slighted by the whimsical lady of luck.

Saturday night was no different, as the wounded, but ever determined Lions battled adversity and bad weather in surging to their fourth consecutive victory, a 7-0 whitewashing of St. Patrick in Chicago.

Despite another rugged rushing effort by fullback John Gillen, who carried 31 times for 108 yards, and an unrelenting defense, the final outcome was actually settled by the kicking game, namely punter Mike Maude.

As Lion head coach Jim Lyne observed on a wind and rainswept Hanson Park Stadium playing surface afterwards, "What pleases me most about tonight's effort was how well Maude punted in spite of kicking into the wind and rain."

Maude averaged 38 yards per kick for his six punts of the evening and denied St. Pat's any decent field position. His performance in the second half was even more remarkable, when the raw wind and steady rain negated any advantage the artificial surface may have had.

Mike Maude

Adding to his effectiveness, St. Viator covered well each time it was forced to punt. In the final analysis, it was perhaps the difference.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Lions drove to the St. Patrick 35-yard line, where they yielded possession on a fumble by quarterback Lou Citro. The 5-foot-11 junior was making his initial start, replacing the injured Jim Thompson (torn knee ligaments). Lyne and his assistants had reason to be encouraged with their quarterback, as the Lions' next possession resulted in a 13 play, 55 yard drive which netted the game's only score.

After stopping St. Patrick on third and two, and again on fourth and three inside their own 40 yard line, the Lions, with Citro at the helm and relying primarily on the durable Gillen, went straight at St. Pat's.

Halfback Jeff Gracheck capped the winning drive at 9:23 of the second quarter, when he powered his way over left guard from two yards out. Marty Hower added the conversion, as the wind and rain began to swirl around an already chilled stadium.

In that winning touchdown drive Gillen carried the ball 10 times. With a second and six at the Lion 49, the 6-2 185-pound junior burst through the Shamrock defense for a first down at the hosts' 41. Gillen carried five successive downs, when Citro crossed everyone up by keeping the ball himself for a crucial first down at the St. Pat 12.

Citro displayed a deft hand in faking Gillen into the line and then going outside for 10 yards. Three more thrusts by Gillen (who had his third consecutive 100 yards plus effort) made it first and goal from the two, from where Gracheck cashed in the six points.

St. Viator's defense limited St. Pat's to four downs in each of its remaining three possessions in the first half. Maude's first two punts followed brief Lion attempts at getting their running game going again.

For the half, the Lions had 93 yards total offense, all of which were gained on the ground. St. Pat's, on the other hand, was limited to a mere 25 yards, all on the ground.

Defense and Maude's punting were the story in the second half. With the Lions experiencing difficulties on offense due a more aggressive St. Patrick defense and the steadily worsening weather and field conditions, the responsibility fell squarely upon the likes of Scott Zettek, Bill Schmidt, Dan Yourg, Nick Josten, Tom Murray, and from his offensive set, Maude.

With 2:00 remaining Maude pinned the final reality of defeat on St. Pat.

Facing a stiff wind and a whipping rain, Maude got off a strong punt which came to rest on the hosts' eight yard line. A nice guy to have around!

Rain hits Series again; rescheduled for tonight

World Series

BOSTON (UPI) — The sixth game of the World Series between the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox was postponed by rain for the second consecutive day Sunday and rescheduled for Monday night (7:30), but Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said he was "not very optimistic" weather conditions would allow the Series to continue before Tuesday.

The Commissioner said if the sixth game is played Monday night, the seventh game, if necessary, would be played Tuesday, but no starting time has yet been announced. Kuhn said his inclination was toward a night game Tuesday, but he would wait for a weather report before making a final decision.

The rainout marks the first time since 1962 the World Series has been delayed more than one day by foul weather.

Sunday's postponement changed the pitching plans of Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson for the sixth game. Johnson now will go with his ace, right-hander Luis Tiant, who already pitched two complete game victories in the Series. Southpaw Bill Lee, who had been scheduled to pitch the sixth game, will be the seventh game pitcher, if the Series goes that far.

Reds' manager Sparky Anderson said he will switch to Gary Nolan as sixth game choice, and now would have southpaw Don Gullet ready to start a seventh game.

Kuhn said that television considerations had nothing to do with his decision to move the game to Monday night. The Series will be up against pro football tonight.

Green Bay surprises Dallas, 19-17

Bears show life early but Steelers roll

by United Press International

Franco Harris, Rocky Bleier and Terry Bradshaw scored touchdowns and the Pittsburgh Steeler defense shut off the Chicago Bears in the second half Sunday for a 34-3 National Football League victory.

Reggie Harrison also scored for the Steelers, in the second period, and Roy Gerela kicked two field goals.

The Bears, who had averaged only 82 yards a game rushing this seasnn, fought the Steelers on even terms in the first period, but Pittsburgh began showing is Super Bowl form in the second perid.

The Bears scored first on the opening play of the second period when Bob Thomas' 32-yard field goal capped a 12-play drive which started at the Bears' 20.

On the next series the Steelers drove to the Chicago 27 but had to settle for Gerela's 37-yard field goal. Bobby Walden highlighted the drive when he faked a punt and tossed a 20-yard pass to Donnie Shell for a first down at the Chicago 35.

Pittsburgh scored again in the second period when Nemiah Wilson was called on a 44-yard pass interference penalty in the end zone. The Steelers got the ball on the one and two plays later Harrison went over left guard for the touchdown.

Gerela converted for a 10-3 Pittsburgh lead at the half.

With 3:50 left in the third period the Steelers scored when Virgil Livers fumbled a kickoff and Mike Collier recovered at the Chicago 16. Four plays later Harris carried into the end zone from three yards out.

Bleier's three-yard touchdown run capped an eight-play drive which started on the Bears' 39, highlighted by Bradshaw's 20-yard pass to Lynn Swann. Gerela also kicked an 18-yard field goal in the third period.

The Bears netted 140 yards rushing in the first half, while holding the Steelers to only 100 yards on the ground. But Chicago picked up only 56 yards rushing in the second half.

Veteran Green Bay quarterback John Hadl passed 26 yards to tight end Rich McGeorge with 1:52 remaining in the game Sunday to rally the winless Packers to a 19-17 upset of the Dallas Cowboys.

The scoring drive was set up by Golden Richards' fumble of a Green Bay punt on the Dallas 31.

The scoring pass to McGeorge was the only touchdown pass Hadl threw all afternoon, although he directed Green Bay to brief leads in the first and third periods.

Dan Pastorini's pinpoint passes moved Houston to two second-half touchdowns and an Oiler defense aroused by the ejection of linebacker Robert Brazile stymied the Washington Redskins to presrve a 13-10 win.

Jim Otis scored on touchdown runs of one and five yards and finished with 116 yards rushing in his finest pro performance Sunday to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 31-20 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The barrel-chested fullback outrushed his more heralded teammate, Terry Metcalf, who finished with 81 yards in 14 carries and caught five passes for 37 yards.

Bob Griese threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score and the Miami defense, led by cornerback Curtis Johnson, forced eight turnovers as the Dolphins handed the New York Jets their worst loss in 12 years, 43-0.

NFL roundup

Griese, who was 10-for-14 for 155 yards, threw 53 yards to Nat Moore, two to Norm Bulaich and 32 to Jim Mandich for touchdowns and had a four-yard touchdown run.

Namath finished with only eight completions in 24 attempts for 96 yards and was intercepted six times for the third time in his career. The victory was Miami's fourth straight after an opening game loss to Oakland, while the Jets fell to 2-3.

Second-year pro Andy Johnson, who entered the game with minus two yards rushing for his carrer, ran for touchdowns of three and 66 yards to give New England a 21-10 victory over Baltimore.

The victory was New England's first in six National Football League games this season.

Johnson, a quarterback at Georgia drafted in the fifth round last year, carried 18 times for 125 yards in the rain.

Rookie Marvin Cobb intercepted a Ken Stabler pass and returned it 52 yard for a touchdown late in the third quarter to break a 7-7 tie and lead the unbeaten Cincinnati Bengals to a 14-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders in a steady rain.

Cincinnati, off to its best start in the eight-year history of the franchise, upped its record to 5-0, while disappointing Oakland suffered its second straight loss and slipped to 3-2.

James Harris fired two touchdown strikes and Tom Dempsey kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams took advantage of six Atlanta turnovers, five of them in the first half, in a 22-7 victory over the Falcons.

It was the Rams' fourth straight triumph after an opening season 18-7 loss at Dallas.

Jan Stenerud's 27-yard fourth period field goal brought Kansas City from behind to a 12-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

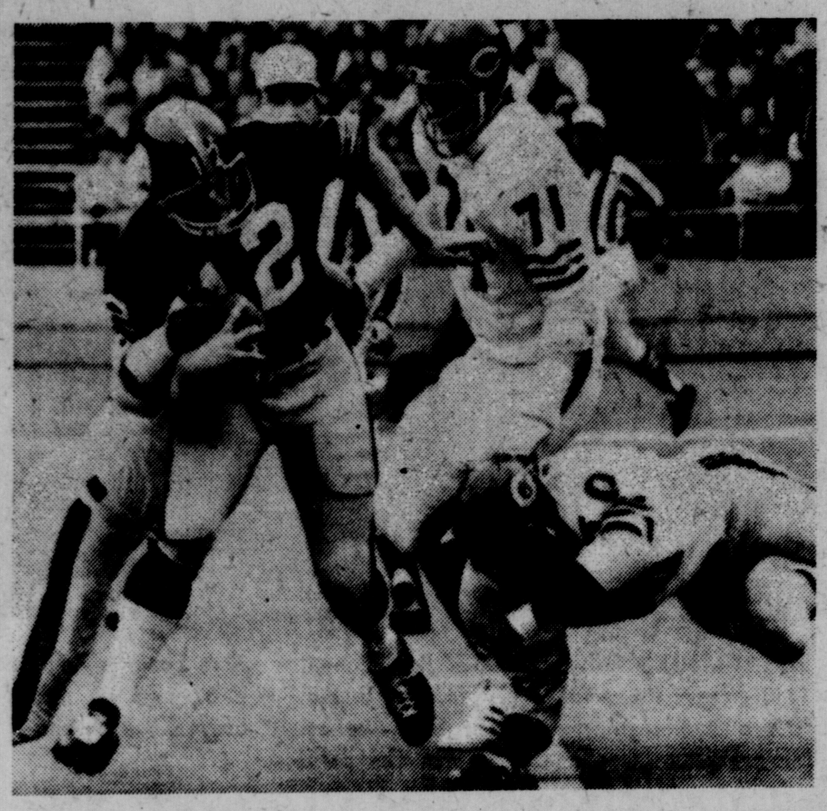
Stenerud, who had two other goals and one extra point attempt blocked in the tight battle, booted his side to a 2-3 Western Division record while the Chargers are now 0-5, although they have lost their last three games by only 11 points.

Norm Snead, booed the week before for missing open receivers, connected twice with Gene Washington within a 55-second span of the opening quarter to start the San Francisco 49ers on their wy to an easy 35-21 victory over the mistake-plagued New Orleans Saints.

Fran Tarkenton tossed two touchdown passes and Chuck Foreman rushed for 107 yards to propel the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings to a 25-19 NFC Central Division victory over the Detroit Lions.

Fred Cox booted three field goals to help Minnesota, 5-0, up its division lead to two games over the Lions, 3-2.

Denver placekicker Jim Turner, overshadowed throughout the game by Don Cockroft's record setting kicking performance for Cleveland, boosted a 53-yard field goal as time ran out to give the Broncos a 16-15 victory over the winless Browns.



PITTSBURGH'S TERRY Bradshaw evades Chicago's tacklers as he runs for five yards on a keeper in second quarter Sunday. Bears on the play are, from left, Doug Plank, who grabs Bradshaw; Roger Stillwell, 71, and Waymond Bryant, 50. Pittsburgh won, 34-3.

Jenner collects decathlon gold in Mexico City

World record holder Bruce Jenner, coaxing that little bit extra out of himself when his body rebelled with pain after two days of bitter competition, Sunday defeated teammate Fred Dixon by a mere 26 pints to win the decathlon gold medal at the Pan American Games in Mexico City.

The 25-year-old champion from San Jose, Calif., finished with a total 8,045 points, a new games record but well short of the world record 8,524 he set earlier this year. Dixon, a 24-year-old from Los Angeles, scored 8,019, also below his personal best of 8,277 which he achieved in the meet in which Jenner established his world figures.

Jenner trailed through nine events, but he began his move on the second day when he was top man in the discus with 152 feet 4 inches; in the pole vault with a leap of 15 feet 1¼ inches, and in the 1,500 meters, the final of the 10 events, in which he beat Saxon by over 100 meters. He won the shot Saturday with a toss of 49 feet 11¾ inches.

Earlier in the day, Janet Merrill of Waterford, Conn., won the women's 1,500 meters and the rowing team won three of eight gold medals. The U.S. picked up another gold in team dressage.

Black Hawks dump North Stars

The Chicago Black Hawks moved out to a four-point advantage Sunday night in the Smythe Division of the National Hockey League with a tense 3-2 victory over the Minnesota North Stars in the Stadium. Chicago now has eight points to Vancouver's four.

The Black Hawks enjoyed a 2-1 advantage after one period on goals by Alain Daigle, the 34th choice in the 1974 National Hockey League amateur draft. Daigle countered at 5:43 with help from Cliff Koroll and Dennis Hull and then struck again at 9:18 off a slap shot from Dick Redmond.

Minnesota scored in the closing minutes of the opening period when Dennis Hextall beat Tony Esposito in front of the net.

Neither team scored in the second period.

In other National Hockey League action it was Boston over Toronto 3-0; New York Rangers 8, Vancouver 1; Buffalo 5, Washington 4; Philadelphia 5, Detroit 1.

Yarborough rules American 500

Cale Yarborough saw an 18-second lead evaporate over the last 100 miles Sunday, but held on for a car-length victory over Bobby Allison in the American 500 stock car race at the North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Yarborough kept his Chevrolet out in front 396 of the 492 laps, including the last 253. He opened up an 18-second margin over Allison's Matador following the fourth and final caution flag of the day with slightly more than 100 miles to go.

Allison slowly edged closer and was within a half second of the Timmonsville, S.C., driver with one lap to go. Coming off the fourth turn, Allison tried to move below Yarborough and shoot past for the victory, but Yarborough held him off.

January wins Texas Open playoff

Veteran Don January of Dallas rolled in a short birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to edge Larry Hinson in the $125,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Both players bogeyed the first hole of the playoff, but January hit within two feet of the pin off the tee on the 206-yard par-three second hole.

Hinson had rolled in a 45-foot putt on the 18th hole of regulation play to tie January at 13-under-par 275.

January was already in the clubhouse and appeared to have the tournament wrapped up before Hinson rolled in his putt.

Hinson, who suffered polio as a child, was the winner of the 1972 Ben Hogan award for courage.

Schaumburg rules South

47-yard run — but that was all. Mielke, who had been averaging more than seven yards a carry, finished with 55 yards on 12 hauls.

"We couldn't find anything that would go for long gainers," said Mielke, who settled for three pass receptions and 82 yards, plus an interception. "They threw a million different defenses at us."

The Prospect defense twice sent Zonca limping to the sidelines, but he kept coming back for more.

The spunky quarterback tried to option his way into the end zone from the two-yard line early in the fourth period, but he ran into Doney. When Zonca finally got up, he needed assistance in finding the bench.

"They really did a job on us," the Saxon signalcaller admitted later.

It was the first time this season that the Saxons had been held scoreless for an entire half.

But the Schaumburg defense was up to the challenge. Rallying around the aggressive play of linebacker Scott Scholz and tackle Steve Skipworth, the Saxons held Prospect to just 161 total yards while protecting the 14-7 lead.

Knight quarterback Tim Kubicki directed an offense that, for the most part, consisted of Mason and Dave Thoma slashing into the line for five and six yards at a time.

But when it really counted, the Saxons did the job. Linebacker Gary Bolger put the crunch on Mason on a key play late in the third quarter, throwing the 200-pound Knight runner for a two-yard loss when Prospect came knocking inside the Schaumburg 15. Two plays later, Bob Connell intercepted a Kubicki pass in the end zone intended for Fred Korf.

"The turning point of the game was when we failed to score there in the third quarter," Keefe volunteered.

The Knights had marched to the 12 after Jim Wright recovered a Schaumburg fumble at Prospect's 40.

Earlier in the third quarter Scholz, Mike Orlowicz, and Brad Crawford stopped Mason on a fourth-and-two from the Saxon 37.

Mason finished the day with 68 hard-earned yards and Thoma had 53.

Poor field position hindered Prospect's efforts to get back into the game in the fourth quarter. Kubicki had the wind behind him on the Knights' final drive, but Mielke's diving interception at the Prospect 45 wrapped up the victory.

DuPage topples Harper

on a down and out pattern to Mill. After that incompletion they came right back with a down-out-and-up to Mill that just missed the receivers fingertips in the end zone. Patterson's 43-yard field goal attempt was blocked.

COD came back fired up and gave the Harper defense another stiff test. The Chaps used 20 plays to drive 79 yards, pushing the Harper defense back until their heels were on the goal line.

The Hawks didn't fold, though, and DuPage came up empty as John Spores, Greg Goldman, Dugan McLaughlin and Kevin Koppari buried COD's Patterson as he strained for the goal line.

"I think our defense played them even," said Eliasik. "They just had to be on the field too much and got tired.

"We were afraid something like that would happen but we couldn't control the ball enough to give them a rest."

In the final period the Hawk defense did their best to give themselves a rest, twice forcing the COD offense to return the ball to the Harper offense.

The first time came after Steger completed a 14-yard pass to Rich Hampton. Hampton was slammed by the Hawk defensive backs and Jon Campbell scooped up the loose ball.

On DuPage's next series Barry Conatser regained the loose ball but again Harper couldn't put a drive together.

The Chaps' Kevin Lio put the game out of reach of Harper when he went in motion on the Hawks' 24-yard line and took Steger's swing pass in full stride down the side line for DuPage's second touchdown.

Eliasik was subdued but optimistic after the loss that ended Harper's hopes for state supremacy.

"These kids have come back before," he said. "I told them they are still in the conference race mathematically.

"We are still shooting for our third straight winning season, too. I can't complain too much about what happened. DuPage has a good chance at going undefeated and I think we played them good. We were just lacking a few things when we needed them."

COD's Dempsey agreed. "They're the best we've played."

Bears show life early but Steelers roll

by United Press International

Franco Harris, Rocky Bleier and Terry Bradshaw scored touchdowns and the Pittsburgh Steeler defense shut off the Chicago Bears in the second half Sunday for a 34-3 National Football League victory.

Reggie Harrison also scored for the Steelers, in the second period, and Roy Gerela kicked two field goals.

The Bears, who had averaged only 82 yards a game rushing this seasnn, fought the Steelers on even terms in the first period, but Pittsburgh began showing is Super Bowl form in the second perid.

The Bears scored first on the opening play of the second period when Bob Thomas' 32-yard field goal capped a 12-play drive which started at the Bears' 20.

On the next series the Steelers drove to the Chicago 27 but had to settle for Gerela's 37-yard field goal. Bobby Walden highlighted the drive when he faked a punt and tossed a 20-yard pass to Donnie Shell for a first down at the Chicago 35.

Pittsburgh scored again in the second period when Nemiah Wilson was called on a 44-yard pass interference penalty in the end zone. The Steelers got the ball on the one and two plays later Harrison went over left guard for the touchdown.

Gerela converted for a 10-3 Pittsburgh lead at the half.

With 3:50 left in the third period the Steelers scored when Virgil Livers fumbled a kickoff and Mike Collier recovered at the Chicago 16. Four plays later Harris carried into the end zone from three yards out.

Bleier's three-yard touchdown run capped an eight-play drive which started on the Bears' 39, highlighted by Bradshaw's 20-yard pass to Lynn Swann. Gerela also kicked an 18-yard field goal in the third period.

The Bears netted 140 yards rushing in the first half, while holding the Steelers to only 100 yards on the ground. But Chicago picked up only 56 yards rushing in the second half.

Veteran Green Bay quarterback John Hadl passed 26 yards to tight end Rich McGeorge with 1:52 remaining in the game Sunday to rally the winless Packers to a 19-17 upset of the Dallas Cowboys.

The scoring drive was set up by Golden Richards' fumble of a Green Bay punt on the Dallas 31.

The scoring pass to McGeorge was the only touchdown pass Hadl threw all afternoon, although he directed Green Bay to brief leads in the first and third periods.

Dan Pastorini's pinpoint passes moved Houston to two second-half touchdowns and an Oiler defense aroused by the ejection of linebacker Robert Brazile stymied the Washington Redskins to presrve a 13-10 win.

Jim Otis scored on touchdown runs of one and five yards and finished with 116 yards rushing in his finest pro performance Sunday to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 31-20 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The barrel-chested fullback outrushed his more heralded teammate, Terry Metcalf, who finished with 81 yards in 14 carries and caught five passes for 37 yards.

Bob Griese threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score and the Miami defense, led by cornerback Curtis Johnson, forced eight turnovers as the Dolphins handed the New York Jets their worst loss in 12 years, 43-0.

Griese, who was 10-for-14 for 155 yards, threw 53 yards to Nat Moore, two to Norm Bulaich and 32 to Jim Mandich for touchdowns and had a four-yard touchdown run.

Namath finished with only eight completions in 24 attempts for 96 yards and was intercepted six times for the third time in his career. The victory was Miami's fourth straight after an opening game loss to Oakland, while the Jets fell to 2-3.

Second-year pro Andy Johnson, who entered the game with minus two yards rushing for his carrer, ran for touchdowns of three and 66 yards to give New England a 21-10 victory over Baltimore.

The victory was New England's first in six National Football League games this season.

Johnson, a quarterback at Georgia drafted in the fifth round last year, carried 18 times for 125 yards in the rain.

Rookie Marvin Cobb intercepted a Ken Stabler pass and returned it 52 yard for a touchdown late in the third quarter to break a 7-7 tie and lead the unbeaten Cincinnati Bengals to a 14-10 victory over the Oakland Raiders in a steady rain.

Cincinnati, off to its best start in the eight-year history of the franchise, upped its record to 5-0, while disappointing Oakland suffered its second straight loss and slipped to 3-2.

James Harris fired two touchdown strikes and Tom Dempsey kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams took advantage of six Atlanta turnovers, five of them in the first half, in a 22-7 victory over the Falcons.

It was the Rams' fourth straight triumph after an opening season 18-7 loss at Dallas.

Jan Stenerud's 27-yard fourth period field goal brought Kansas City from behind to a 12-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

Stenerud, who had two other goals and one extra point attempt blocked in the tight battle, booted his side to a 2-3 Western Division record while the Chargers are now 0-5, although they have lost their last three games by only 11 points.

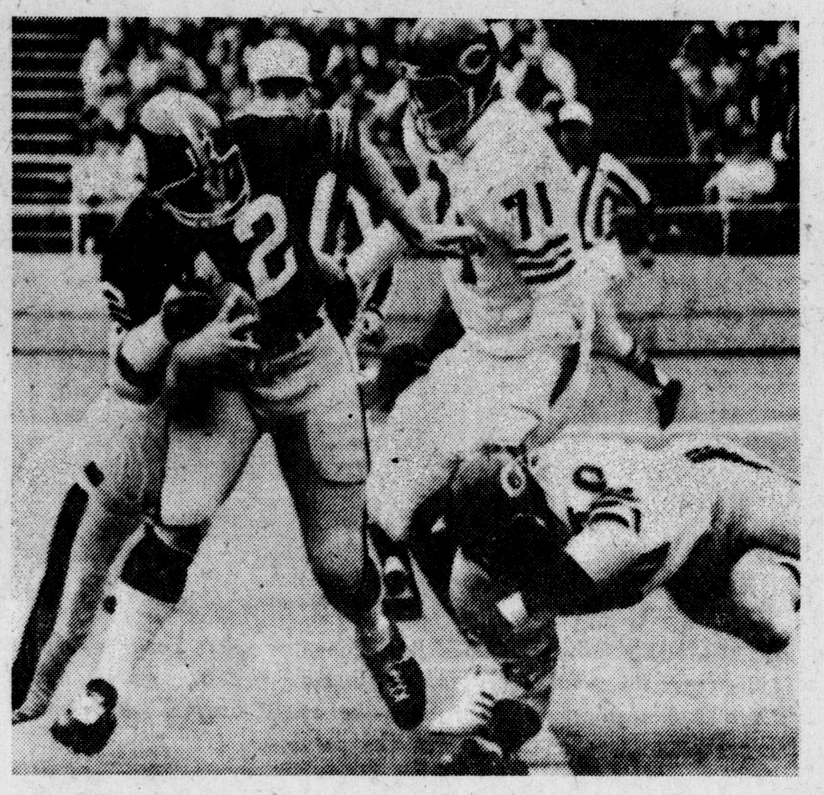
Norm Snead, booed the week before for missing open receivers, connected twice with Gene Washington within a 55-second span of the opening quarter to start the San Francisco 49ers on their wy to an easy 35-21 victory over the mistake-plagued New Orleans Saints.

Fran Tarkenton tossed two touchdown passes and Chuck Foreman rushed for 107 yards to propel the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings to a 25-19 NFC Central Division victory over the Detroit Lions.

Fred Cox booted three field goals to help Minnesota, 5-0, up its division lead to two games over the Lions, 3-2.

Denver placekicker Jim Turner, overshadowed throughout the game by Don Cockroft's record setting kicking performance for Cleveland, boosted a 53-yard field goal as time ran out to give the Broncos a 16-15 victory over the winless Browns.

NFL roundup



PITTSBURGH'S TERRY Bradshaw evades Chicago's tacklers as he runs for five yards on a keeper in second quarter Sunday. Bears on the play are, from left, Doug Plank, who grabs Bradshaw; Roger Stillwell, 71, and Waymond Bryant, 50. Pittsburgh won, 34-3.

Jenner collects decathlon gold in Mexico City

World record holder Bruce Jenner, coaxing that little bit extra out of himself when his body rebelled with pain after two days of bitter competition, Sunday defeated teammate Fred Dixon by a mere 26 pints to win the decathlon gold medal at the Pan American Games in Mexico City.

The 25-year-old champion from San Jose, Calif., finished with a total 8,045 points, a new games record but well short of the world record 8,524 he set earlier this year. Dixon, a 24-year-old from Los Angeles, scored 8,019, also below his personal best of 8,277 which he achieved in the meet in which Jenner established his world figures.

Jenner trailed through nine events, but he began his move on the second day when he was top man in the discus with 152 feet 4 inches; in the pole vault with a leap of 15 feet 1¼ inches, and in the 1,500 meters, the final of the 10 events, in which he beat Saxon by over 100 meters. He won the shot Saturday with a toss of 49 feet 11¾ inches.

Earlier in the day, Janet Merrill of Waterford, Conn., won the women's 1,500 meters and the rowing team won three of eight gold medals. The U.S. picked up another gold in team dressage.

Black Hawks dump North Stars

The Chicago Black Hawks moved out to a four-point advantage Sunday night in the Smythe Division of the National Hockey League with a tense 3-2 victory over the Minnesota North Stars in the Stadium. Chicago now has eight points to Vancouver's four.

The Black Hawks enjoyed a 2-1 advantage after one period on goals by Alain Daigle, the 34th choice in the 1974 National Hockey League amateur draft. Daigle countered at 5:43 with help from Cliff Koroll and Dennis Hull and then struck again at 9:18 off a slap shot from Dick Redmond.

Minnesota scored in the closing minutes of the opening period when Dennis Hextall beat Tony Esposito in front of the net.

Neither team scored in the second period.

In other National Hockey League action it was Boston over Toronto 3-0; New York Rangers 8, Vancouver 1; Buffalo 5, Washington 4; Philadelphia 5, Detroit 1.

Yarborough rules American 500

Cale Yarborough saw an 18-second lead evaporate over the last 100 miles Sunday, but held on for a car-length victory over Bobby Allison in the American 500 stock car race at the North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Yarborough kept his Chevrolet out in front 396 of the 492 laps, including the last 253. He opened up an 18-second margin over Allison's Matador following the fourth and final caution flag of the day with slightly more than 100 miles to go.

TOTAL POINTS FOR BOTH TEAMS _____

Palatine, Maine West runners gain district honors

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross Country Editor

District cross country champions Palatine, Maine West, and Deerfield have until next Saturday to savor the sweet taste of victory before they have to do it all over again. That's when they will join 12 other qualifying teams in the Lake Forest Sectional.

For Palatine, the team winner on Conant's district course at Union Oil Saturday, the first-place finish was especially satisfying because it came by a slim point over Mid-Suburban rival Fremd. The perennial-powerhouse Vikings had nipped Palatine in a dual meet earlier in October.

"We're really happy with the way the boys ran today," said Pirate coach Joe Johnson shortly after the district race. "And now we're looking forward to the conference meet on Tuesday."

Conant will host the MSL title race over the same course at Union Oil's expansive layout.

The individual winner at Conant Saturday was Fremd's John Filosa (15:41), who came from behind to nip Joe Sheeran of Grayslake by two seconds. Sheeran was one of four individuals who qualified for the sectional at Lake Forest by placing in the top 10. The other three were Dave Derdeyn of Richmond-Burton, Andy Oakley of McHenry, and Keith Moller of Crystal Lake.

Palatine put three harriers in the top 10, including sophomores Chuck Elliott (6th) and John Dahlgren (9th). Senior Dave Horwath was 10th, but Dahlgren, the Pirates' sixth or seventh man most of the season, was the big surprise. Mike Monson (13th) and Tony Vargas (17th) were Palatine's fourth and fifth scorers.

Fremd got a fifth-place finish from Dan Tischler, who was followed by teammates Dan Inbody (11th), Dean Elleman (16th), and Bob Ratcliffe (21st).

Teams from Hoffman Estates, McHenry and Conant also qualified for the sectional.

Hoffman's Steve Lind turned in his best race of the year, finishing eighth on Conant's three-mile course. The Hawks' pack placed five runners between eighth and 19th. Conant freshman Ben Applebeck and teammate Tom Allen ran 4-5 to help the Cougars qualify.

Maine West captured the Elk Grove District with 78 points, nipping Central Suburban South rival Maine East by just two points. Maine East's Mark Tomasik was the individual champion with a 15:57, four seconds in front of Maine West's Brian Tolan over the three-mile course.

The Maine West Warriors, who narrowly won the CSL South conference meet last week, got an exceptional performance from Bob Pawelko, their second man and 12th over-all. Jeff Brydges (15th), Gary Paul (22nd), and Terry Walters (28th) also scored for West.

Maine East got good efforts from John Hinterhauser (9th) and Dave Saethre (13th), two harriers who have been out of action due to injuries in the past weeks.

Evanston was third at Elk Grove, Followed by Prospect and Maine South. Those three squads, in addition to Maine West and Maine East, qualified for Lake Forst.

Individual qualifiers were Steve Chaplin of Glenbrook South, Mike Melvin of Maine North, and Darryl Robinson of Forest View.

Robinson, the Falcons' outstanding junior, was sixth Saturday despite getting mixed up in the middle of the race.

"I thought the race was over and I started for the chute," said Robinson later, after he had moved to take the lead from Tomasik.

The Forest View harrier still had another loop to complete before finishing.

Prospect's fourth-place showing was keyed by the running of senior harrier Bill Hrbek, who was eighth over-all. Jack Pittman was 14th, followed by sophomore mate Mark Smith in 25th and fellow junior Matt Lawson in 26th. Dave Hayes, another sophomore was 55th.

"Hayes just keeps on coming," said Prospect coach Joe Wanner, who is looking forward to the MSL meet on Tuesday.

Deerfield cleaned up at the Highland Park meet, as expected, placing five runners in the top 15 and coming out with just 46 points. The four remaining qualifiers were New Trier West, Mundelein, New Trier East, and Libertyville.

Three individuals will advance to Lake Forest, including the winner, Dave Erdal of Waukegan East. Erdal's time was 14:56. Jim Wolfe of Waukegan West and Steve Goodell of Lake Forest also made the first 10.

Wheeling's Ben Sanchez, one of the MSL's top sophomores, was 16th over-all, followed by Hersey's Craig Hanssen in 18th. Joe Shields and Joe Schmidt of Buffalo Grove, another pair of tough sophs, were 23rd and 36th, respectively.

Hersey freshman Steve Johnson finished 39th, the best effort by a freshman.

Farewell present for coach

Arlington's archers triumph again

by PAUL LOGAN

"Whether you win or lose is deterined by how you play the game, and how you play the game is often determined by the skill and expertise of the coach." — from the Archery Guide

As far as some of the Mid-Suburban Conference archery coaches are concerned, Linda Swanson has had a lot to do with the tremendous success of the Arlington Cardinals' team.

The 10 MSC coaches and their teams watched Arlington do what it has done for three straight seasons — win the archery championship at Hersey High School Saturday.

The girls of Coach Swanson rolled up 57 conference meet points for an over-all socre (including points from a 10-0 dual meet schedule) of 260.5. A distant second was Prospect with 201.

Prospect coach Sandy Pifer said that despite dominance of Arlington the last three years, she was sorry to see Swanson stepping down from her head coaching position. Arlington's successful coach will be getting married and moving to Minnesota in 1976. Pifer said Swanson had contributed a great deal toward establishing the sport in this area, but Prospect's coach admitted that her leaving might give some of the other teams a chance at the first-place trophy.

Asked how this team stacked up to past conference champions, Swanson said that this year's team "is better, much better There's more depth and the scores on the whole are much higher. Everybody in the top 10 is averaging over 500."

This depth showed in the winner's circle as the top three archers in the high series category were Cardinals. Vicky Dale was the only girl to go over the 600-mark with a 602. Teammate Diane Swanson was second with 590 and Pam Brown was close behind at 578.

The other two medal winners with fine series showings were Palatine's Mary Thompson with 568 and Fremd's Betsy Hill with 552.

Coach Swanson was pleased with her team's showing, especially the work of Dale, who was shooting for the first time this season. "It's unusual to be at the top (of the league) in the first year."

Dale, who fired three perfect ends from 20 yards, proved to be the toughest on a cold afternoon. "The wind was bad for everybody," said Swanson. "A survivla of the fittest."

Other archers having perfect ends were:

Arlington — Pam Hahn 2, Mary Korn 1, Kim Griffith 1; Prospect — Judy Kirchhoff 3, Karen Kurka 1; Fremd — Hill 1; Forest View — Sue Cavanaugh 1; Palatine — Vicki Sieradyki 1; and Buffalo Grove — Donna Huyser 1.

Although Swanson's leaving, her successor will have a fine nuclear to work with in 1976. Dale and Swanson will be two of seven girls returning. And that alone is bad news for the conference competition.

(See scoreboard for medal winners in all 10 positions as well as the final team standings.)

Buffalo Grove holds off stiff Wheeling challenge

by KEITH REINHARD

The answer was blowing in the wind at Buffalo Grove Saturday.

Well almost. A stiff Northerly combined with some strategic turnovers to pretty much dictate the outcome of action, the Bison grounding out a hard-fought decision over Wheeling, 10-6.

Hosting Grove capitalized on good field position to put the ball in the end zone the first time they laid their hands on it. Then the Wildcat defense turned stingy and opportunistic while the Bison spent 44½ more minutes vainly trying to crack TD territory again.

"No question about it," shrugged BG pilot Grant Blaney. "Wheeling's defense came to play. The wind was definitely a factor today too, but we were able to move the ball against both Wheeling and the wind. We just couldn't put it over the goal line."

'Cat coach Gerry Clinnin was somewhat in agreement. "Our defense played one whale of a game today . . . now if we could only get our offense in gear. It's frustrating to get that good a performance out of one unit while the other is just spinning its wheels."

If you can't carry it or throw it over, kick it over. That's exactly the line of action both teams pursued. There were a total of four field goals attempted during the course of the afternoon and Steve Pfister's 30-yarder right near the outset of the fourth period turned out to be the clincher.

When Wheeling finally scored with less than 30 seconds left in the game, they still found the verdict out of reach.

Ben Orcutt put the Bison on the scoreboard initially. Wheeling received the opening kickoff against the wind, went nowhere and punted for just ten yards, allowing the hosts to take over on the Wildcat 32.

Five plays later Orcutt found daylight on a quick opener and sprinted 15 yards for the score. He also booted the extra point and with 8:25 showing on the clock Buffalo Grove owned a 7-0 lead.

Another kickoff, another futile series and another short punt later

Palatine, Maine West runners gain district honors

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross Country Editor

District cross country champions Palatine, Maine West, and Deerfield have until next Saturday to savor the sweet taste of victory before they have to do it all over again. That's when they will join 12 other qualifying teams in the Lake Forest Sectional.

For Palatine, the team winner on Conant's district course at Union Oil Saturday, the first-place finish was especially satisfying because it came by a slim point over Mid-Suburban rival Fremd. The perennial-powerhouse Vikings had nipped Palatine in a dual meet earlier in October.

"We're really happy with the way the boys ran today," said Pirate coach Joe Johnson shortly after the district race. "And now we're looking forward to the conference meet on Tuesday."

Conant will host the MSL title race over the same course at Union Oil's expansive layout.

The individual winner at Conant Saturday was Fremd's John Filosa (15:41), who came from behind to nip Joe Sheeran of Grayslake by two seconds. Sheeran was one of four individuals who qualified for the sectional at Lake Forest by placing in the top 10. The other three were Dave Derdeyn of Richmond-Burton, Andy Oakley of McHenry, and Keith Moller of Crystal Lake.

Palatine put three harriers in the top 10, including sophomores Chuck Elliott (6th) and John Dahlgren (9th). Senior Dave Horwath was 10th, but Dahlgren, the Pirates' sixth or seventh man most of the season, was the big surprise. Mike Monson (13th) and Tony Vargas (17th) were Palatine's fourth and fifth scorers.

Fremd got a fifth-place finish from Dan Tischler, who was followed by teammates Dan Inbody (11th), Dean Elleman (16th), and Bob Ratcliffe (21st).

Teams from Hoffman Estates, McHenry and Conant also qualified for the sectional.

Hoffman's Steve Lind turned in his best race of the year, finishing eighth on Conant's three-mile course. The Hawks' pack placed five runners between eighth and 19th. Conant freshman Ben Applebeck and teammate Tom Allen ran 4-5 to help the Cougars qualify.

Maine West captured the Elk Grove District with 78 points, nipping Central Suburban South rival Maine East by just two points. Maine East's Mark Tomasik was the individual champion with a 15:57, four seconds in front of Maine West's Brian Tolan over the three-mile course.

The Maine West Warriors, who narrowly won the CSL South conference meet last week, got an exceptional performance from Bob Pawelko, their second man and 12th over-all. Jeff Brydges (15th), Gary Paul (22nd), and Terry Walters (28th) also scored for West.

Maine East got good efforts from John Hinterhauser (9th) and Dave Saethre (13th), two harriers who have been out of action due to injuries in the past weeks.

Evanston was third at Elk Grove, Followed by Prospect and Maine South. Those three squads, in addition to Maine West and Maine East, qualified for Lake Forst.

Individual qualifiers were Steve Chaplin of Glenbrook South, Mike Melvin of Maine North, and Darryl Robinson of Forest View.

Robinson, the Falcons' outstanding junior, was sixth Saturday despite getting mixed up in the middle of the race.

"I thought the race was over and I started for the chute," said Robinson later, after he had moved to take the lead from Tomasik.

The Forest View harrier still had another loop to complete before finishing.

Prospect's fourth-place showing was keyed by the running of senior harrier Bill Hrbek, who was eighth over-all. Jack Pittman was 14th, followed by sophomore mate Mark Smith in 25th and fellow junior Matt Lawson in 26th. Dave Hayes, another sophomore was 55th.

"Hayes just keeps on coming," said Prospect coach Joe Wanner, who is looking forward to the MSL meet on Tuesday.

Deerfield cleaned up at the Highland Park meet, as expected, placing five runners in the top 15 and coming out with just 46 points. The four remaining qualifiers were New Trier West, Mundelein, New Trier East, and Libertyville.

Three individuals will advance to Lake Forest, including the winner, Dave Erdal of Waukegan East. Erdal's time was 14:56. Jim Wolfe of Waukegan West and Steve Goodell of Lake Forest also made the first 10.

Wheeling's Ben Sanchez, one of the MSL's top sophomores, was 16th over-all, followed by Hersey's Craig Hanssen in 18th. Joe Shields and Joe Schmidt of Buffalo Grove, another pair of tough sophs, were 23rd and 36th, respectively.

Hersey freshman Steve Johnson finished 39th, the best effort by a freshman.

Farewell present for coach

Arlington's archers triumph again

by PAUL LOGAN

"Whether you win or lose is deterined by how you play the game, and how you play the game is often determined by the skill and expertise of the coach." — from the Archery Guide

As far as some of the Mid-Suburban Conference archery coaches are concerned, Linda Swanson has had a lot to do with the tremendous success of the Arlington Cardinals' team.

The 10 MSC coaches and their teams watched Arlington do what it has done for three straight seasons — win the archery championship at Hersey High School Saturday.

The girls of Coach Swanson rolled up 57 conference meet points for an over-all socre (including points from a 10-0 dual meet schedule) of 260.5. A distant second was Prospect with 201.

Prospect coach Sandy Pifer said that despite dominance of Arlington the last three years, she was sorry to see Swanson stepping down from her head coaching position. Arlington's successful coach will be getting married and moving to Minnesota in 1976. Pifer said Swanson had contributed a great deal toward establishing the sport in this area, but Prospect's coach admitted that her leaving might give some of the other teams a chance at the first-place trophy.

Asked how this team stacked up to past conference champions, Swanson said that this year's team "is better, much better There's more depth and the scores on the whole are much higher. Everybody in the top 10 is averaging over 500."

This depth showed in the winner's circle as the top three archers in the high series category were Cardinals. Vicky Dale was the only girl to go over the 600-mark with a 602. Teammate Diane Swanson was second with 590 and Pam Brown was close behind at 578.

The other two medal winners with fine series showings were Palatine's Mary Thompson with 568 and Fremd's Betsy Hill with 552.

Coach Swanson was pleased with her team's showing, especially the work of Dale, who was shooting for the first time this season. "It's unusual to be at the top (of the league) in the first year."

Dale, who fired three perfect ends from 20 yards, proved to be the toughest on a cold afternoon. "The wind was bad for everybody," said Swanson. "A survivla of the fittest."

Other archers having perfect ends were:

Arlington — Pam Hahn 2, Mary Korn 1, Kim Griffith 1; Prospect — Judy Kirchhoff 3, Karen Kurka 1; Fremd — Hill 1; Forest View — Sue Cavanaugh 1; Palatine — Vicki Sieradyki 1; and Buffalo Grove — Donna Huyser 1.

Although Swanson's leaving, her successor will have a fine nuclear to work with in 1976. Dale and Swanson will be two of seven girls returning. And that alone is bad news for the conference competition.

West loses gamble, gains respect

by JIM O'DONNELL

Jim Morel might not be the one person that you'd like to find yourself sitting across a poker table from.

Especially if his decision to go for a winning two points instead of a tying one with 30 seconds left in Saturday's game between his Maine West Warriors and the host Glenbrook South Titans is indicative of his gambling nature.

The two-point try, an end sweep by Scott Unger, was turned back by a swarming Titan defense to preserve Glenbrook's win, 14-13.

The amazing thing was that the Warriors, after 44 minutes of fruitless offensive play, were in any position to win the Titans' homecoming affair.

Following a scoreless first half, Glenbrook South utilized good field position produced by a superior kicking game to explode for two third-period touchdowns, both by Vince DiBenedatto and both being 15-yard runs tallied within 90 seconds of each other midway through the quarter.

Leading 14-0 with an apparently strong defense as the last 12 minutes opened, the Titans seemed to have the game in the bag. But they didn't reckon with the endless heart of Bob Zuccarini and his Maine West teammates.

With five minutes left in the contest, the Warriors took over on the Glenbrook South 40 following a fumble recovery by Andy Wild. Two passes from quarterback Zuccarini to favorite receiver Wayne Wishnew put the Maine West club on the scoreboard for the first time, the tallying strike coming on a 20-yard pass.

Mike Izral's extra point boot brought the Westerners to within seven, 14-7, but only three-and-one-half minutes remained as the Warriors kicked to the Titans.

Glenbrook took over on their own 33, drove eight yards in three plays, and on a critical fourth-and-two situation, saw ace ball carrier Todd Whitfield stopped three inches short of a first down by a swarming Maine West defense.

From the Titan 40, it only took Zuccarini three plays to put the Warriors in the end zone. The big play in the triad was a scrambling 30-yard pass to Keith Skopick, who was hauled down by the Glenbrook South student body at the one. With just 45 seconds remaining on the clock, junior Zuccarini pounded over on a keeper to pull the Warriors within one.

That's when coach Morel made his decision, giving his charges a chance to upend the team that defeated defending state champion and archrival Glenbrook North seven days earlier. But the sweep try by Unger was met by a wave of Titans, and when the ensuing onside kick attempt just failed, it was over.

Zuccarini was super for Maine West, completing 10 of 22 tosses for 157 yards, running for another 35 yards and also intercepting a pass from his safety slot on defense. Unger led the Warriors in rushing with 59 yards while Wishnew had five receptions for 71 yards.

The loss dropped Maine West to 1-4 in conference play and kept Glenbrook South within one-game striking distance of Central Suburban League South leader Maine South.

If the Titans get lucky and find themselves in the state playoffs in four weeks, they'll be better prepared after Saturday's battle. The game could have gone either way, and almost went Maine West's way because of coach Jim Morel's winning inclinations.

the Bison were on the move again. Pitches from Dave Zimmer to George Bastable and Mike Valentine netted 38 yards to penetrate Wheeling's 10.

Orcutt then charged down to the one but was held off by the 'Cats on two subsequent plays. Pfister came in to kick a 22-yarder with the wind at his back but it carried wide left.

In the second quarter Wheeling had the breeze in their favor and twice, after recovering fumbles, they attempted field goals. Les Brol pounced on the first Bison miscue and the guests later had Scott Jones trying a hefty 48-yarder.

It fell just shy of the mark but Wheeling went on offense again anyway three plays later, Keith Pecka scooping up another Grove bobble. This time a 31-yard pass from Glen Barry to Bucky Black helped advance the Wildcats to more reasonable field goal range but Jones saw a 26-yard attempt go wide to the right.

Wheeling had the wind to its back in the third quarter but had little opportunity to take advantage. Buffalo Grove consumed nearly all the time with two extended marches.

In the fourth stanza the winds of fortune changed again, Wheeling once more getting little yardage from a punt and the hosts then marching into field goal range where Pfister made it 10-0.

The visitors finally put together an extended drive and surprisingly, it was mostly through the air against the wind. Barry connected with Bob Terreberry for one long gainer and the 'Cats moved 70 yards before Bastable's interception halted it within 10 of the goal line while little more than a minute of playing time remained.

The shutout was averted when Buffalo Grove fumbled again and Curt Rathje recovered at 0:23. On the next play Bill Larson streaked eight yards up the right side line for the score.

West loses gamble, gains respect

by JIM O'DONNELL

Jim Morel might not be the one person that you'd like to find yourself sitting across a poker table from.

Especially if his decision to go for a winning two points instead of a tying one with 30 seconds left in Saturday's game between his Maine West Warriors and the host Glenbrook South Titans is indicative of his gambling nature.

The two-point try, an end sweep by Scott Unger, was turned back by a swarming Titan defense to preserve Glenbrook's win, 14-13.

The amazing thing was that the Warriors, after 44 minutes of fruitless offensive play, were in any position to win the Titans' homecoming affair.

Following a scoreless first half, Glenbrook South utilized good field position produced by a superior kicking game to explode for two third-period touchdowns, both by Vince DiBenedatto and both being 15-yard runs tallied within 90 seconds of each other midway through the quarter.

Leading 14-0 with an apparently strong defense as the last 12 minutes opened, the Titans seemed to have the game in the bag. But they didn't reckon with the endless heart of Bob Zuccarini and his Maine West teammates.

With five minutes left in the contest, the Warriors took over on the Glenbrook South 40 following a fumble recovery by Andy Wild. Two passes from quarterback Zuccarini to favorite receiver Wayne Wishnew put the Maine West club on the scoreboard for the first time, the tallying strike coming on a 20-yard pass.

Mike Izral's extra point boot brought the Westerners to within seven, 14-7, but only three-and-one-half minutes remained as the Warriors kicked to the Titans.

Glenbrook took over on their own 33, drove eight yards in three plays, and on a critical fourth-and-two situation, saw ace ball carrier Todd Whitfield stopped three inches short of a first down by a swarming Maine West defense.

From the Titan 40, it only took Zuccarini three plays to put the Warriors in the end zone. The big play in the triad was a scrambling 30-yard pass to Keith Skopick, who was hauled down by the Glenbrook South student body at the one. With just 45 seconds remaining on the clock, junior Zuccarini pounded over on a keeper to pull the Warriors within one.

That's when coach Morel made his decision, giving his charges a chance to upend the team that defeated defending state champion and archrival Glenbrook North seven days earlier. But the sweep try by Unger was met by a wave of Titans, and when the ensuing onside kick attempt just failed, it was over.

Zuccarini was super for Maine West, completing 10 of 22 tosses for 157 yards, running for another 35 yards and also intercepting a pass from his safety slot on defense. Unger led the Warriors in rushing with 59 yards while Wishnew had five receptions for 71 yards.

The loss dropped Maine West to 1-4 in conference play and kept Glenbrook South within one-game striking distance of Central Suburban League South leader Maine South.

If the Titans get lucky and find themselves in the state playoffs in four weeks, they'll be better prepared after Saturday's battle. The game could have gone either way, and almost went Maine West's way because of coach Jim Morel's winning inclinations.

the Bison were on the move again. Pitches from Dave Zimmer to George Bastable and Mike Valentine netted 38 yards to penetrate Wheeling's 10.

Orcutt then charged down to the one but was held off by the 'Cats on two subsequent plays. Pfister came in to kick a 22-yarder with the wind at his back but it carried wide left.

In the second quarter Wheeling had the breeze in their favor and twice, after recovering fumbles, they attempted field goals. Les Brol pounced on the first Bison miscue and the guests later had Scott Jones trying a hefty 48-yarder.

It fell just shy of the mark but Wheeling went on offense again anyway three plays later, Keith Pecka scooping up another Grove bobble. This time a 31-yard pass from Glen Barry to Bucky Black helped advance the Wildcats to more reasonable field goal range but Jones saw a 26-yard attempt go wide to the right.

Wheeling had the wind to its back in the third quarter but had little opportunity to take advantage. Buffalo Grove consumed nearly all the time with two extended marches.

In the fourth stanza the winds of fortune changed again, Wheeling once more getting little yardage from a punt and the hosts then marching into field goal range where Pfister made it 10-0.

The visitors finally put together an extended drive and surprisingly, it was mostly through the air against the wind. Barry connected with Bob Terreberry for one long gainer and the 'Cats moved 70 yards before Bastable's interception halted it within 10 of the goal line while little more than a minute of playing time remained.

The shutout was averted when Buffalo Grove fumbled again and Curt Rathje recovered at 0:23. On the next play Bill Larson streaked eight yards up the right side line for the score.

Arlington, Fremd post solid efforts

Two area squads win district tennis crowns

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

Arlington and Fremd, the one-two punch in Mid-Suburban Conference girls tennis this fall, kept on the winning track over the weekend as each won state district championships.

With the state finals coming up at Arlington Oct. 24-25 the Cardinals and Vikings sent their teams to the ultimate level with solid showings.

The Vikings dominated the Hoffman Estates district, cashing in a pair of strong doubles teams for 12 points to beat the host Hawks, who finished with a runnerup total of eight points.

In the doubles final, Heidi Giesler and Linda Warder of Fremd faced off with teammates Kathy Pfaender and Kim Whiting and took the district crown by a 6-0, 6-3 count.

In the singles championship Hoffman's Clare Dowling advanced to the state finals by besting Elgin Larkin's Debbie Belton 7-5, 6-3.

At Prospect, Arlington fought off challenges from Deerfield and the host Knights to win their district title with 12 points. Deerfield finished second with 10 while Prospect closed to third with nine points.

Buffalo Grove's Lisa Smart, who had won the MSC No. 1 singles title from Arlington's Leslie Grabitz last weekend, pulled off the same feat in the district finals, whipping the Arlington junior 6-1, 6-0.

Arlington's doubles team of Mary Flynn and Maureen Coleman also lost their shot at a district title when they dropped a tough three-setter to Deerfield's Julie Blatchford and Nancy Trevor 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Both the first and second singles and doubles players will advance to the state meet this Friday and Saturday.

At the Elk Grove district darkness descended on the doubles championship and it will be completed this afternoon. Maine West rolled up 15 points to lead Rolling Meadows, who had 11, in the unfinished event.

Meadows' Barb Gallo battled Maine West's Nancy Webber through two sets but lost the singles championship by the string-thin margin of 7-5, 7-6.

Other districts around the state saw defending state champion Oak Park-River Forest coast through their district with 22 points as Suzie Replogle, who will also be defending her state singles title this week, won a district crown. Oak Park's two doubles teams also advanced to the finals.

Another state power, Hinsdale Central, captured the Richards district with 17 points and placed a singles champion and doubles team in the state meet.

Records tumble; Prospect repeats in swimming test

by MIKE KLEIN

You wanted good stories? There was a deck full at Saturday afternoon's second annual Mid-Suburban Conference swimming championships in Olympic Pool.

And exciting ones, too, such as Prospect's fine title defense despite 200 medley relay disqualification, or 10 new conference records or the great 400 freestyle relay duel between Arlington and Prospect.

Or all the messes which occurred when Kyroscope The Wonder Timer fouled up.

You wanted individual stars? They wore every color uniform. Elk Grove's Kathy Amato claimed conference records in 100 freestyle and backstroke. Wheeling's Ann Mackie took home a new mark in 50 freestyle and gave Amato such a 100 free race that just four-tenths of one second separated them.

Additional records were achieved by Arlington's 400 freestyle relay team, Prospect breaststroker Patti Larsen, Elk Grove butterflier Sharon Bird, Arlington diver Kelly Holland and Prospect medleyist Jema Allen.

But there's more. The best. There's a girl with five brothers and one sister who says, "That's my dream, to make a national team. It depends upon what happens in the coming year. There's a lot of kids as good as me or better. But I'm gonna keep trying."

She trains 9,000 yards per day in two sessions. When it is 6:15 a.m. and most people are sleeping, she's swimming. "I think of all the kids who are trying really hard who are so much better than me," she says. "There's people like me all over the place."

None of them, however, were in Olympic Pool Saturday where Sue Cripe, Arlington's little pixie of a swimmer, was unquestionably The Star.

Sue had already bettered her own conference record in 200 freestyle by nearly nine seconds with 2:03.6 and chipped more than 21 seconds off the old 500 free record, when the Kyroscope failed. Her best performance was saved for last.

It came on freestyle relay. Sue swam the anchor leg. Arlington trailed Prospect after 200 yards. Then Jill Nason swam 59.0, her personal best, and brought the teams even for the final 100 yards.

Nason turned the water over to Cripe and it wasn't even close. Sue stroked away from Prospect's Mary Ann Withey and finished with a 55.8 split. Arlington won in 4:03.8. And Prospect was almost six seconds back.

That's what made her happiest. "We have kind of a thing against their (Prospect's) relay," Sue said. "It was very close last year. We beat them by three-tenths of a second. We're not enemies or anything. We're not out to get each other's throats."

Gaye Johnson and Judy Weber opened for Arlington on the freestyle relay team.

Cripe was so happy about her 55.8 split, one second quicker than her previous best, because she'll no longer swim 500 free this year, despite the excellent 5:38.9. She'll concentrate on sprints at districts.

Cripe had 500 freestyle to herself, but that also signalled the team victory for Prospect. Nora Halversen, Sylvia Holder and Barb Stewart swept the next three spots for the winning Knights.

Despite losing 32 points when their medley relay winners were disqualified by a false start, Prospect still had 196 points after 500 freestyle.

Final team totals showed Prospect 269, runner-up Arlington 190, third place Elk Grove 171 and new conference participant Hersey fourth with 150, a fine effort by the Huskies.

Cripe and Elk Grove's Amato were the only double record setters. Amato swam 57.50 in 100 free and 1:06.8 in backstroke. Wheeling's Mackie, the 50 free record setter in 25.9, pushed Amato hard in 100 free, swimming 57.54.

Prospect's Larsen swam 1:17.5 for her breaststroke record and teammate Allen went 2:29.0 for the new mark in individual medley. Arlington's Holland set a 316.55 diving record in Thursday's finals of that event.

Prospect's 2:02.5 would have set a new medley relay standard. Elk Grove's Amato, Donna Fournier, Sharon Bird and Diane Chrysokos were the winners in 2:06.1.

Complete summaries appear in today's Scoreboard.

Harper golfers take 2nd in meet but 1st overall

Harper slipped to a second place windup in the North Central Community College league golf gathering but it wasn't as disastrous an outcome as it might have been.

Chief rival Rock Valley did some slipping of its own and Harper was still able to come away with conference championship honors for 1975.

Behind solid 73s from Dave Nelson and Jim Arden, coach Roger Bechtold's group compiled a 299 in the Triton-hosted tournament at White Pines. Meanwhile Joliet forged a 295 to sneak in ahead of Harper and earn tournament laurels.

Rock Valley, on the other hand, could muster up only a 303 score and had to settle for a third place meet finish. With the over-all loop title being based half on dual meet credentials and half on tournament results, the Hawks still came out on top at the finish line.

Nelson and Arden tied for runnerup honors on the medalist list with Nelson claiming second place outright in a playoff. Arden netted the fourth place ribbon.

Mike Fitton at 76, Tom McEnerney at 77 and Kevin Eakins at 78 rounded out Harper scoring. The Hawks had forged a perfect 6-0 slate in dual meet action and own a 10-0 over-all dual meet log.

That's what made her happiest. "We have kind of a thing against their (Prospect's) relay," Sue said. "It was very close last year. We beat them by three-tenths of a second. We're not enemies or anything. We're not out to get each other's throats."

Gaye Johnson and Judy Weber opened for Arlington on the freestyle relay team.

Cripe was so happy about her 55.8 split, one second quicker than her previous best, because she'll no longer swim 500 free this year, despite the excellent 5:38.9. She'll concentrate on sprints at districts.

Cripe had 500 freestyle to herself, but that also signalled the team victory for Prospect. Nora Halversen, Sylvia Holder and Barb Stewart swept the next three spots for the winning Knights.

Despite losing 32 points when their medley relay winners were disqualified by a false start, Prospect still had 196 points after 500 freestyle.

Final team totals showed Prospect 269, runner-up Arlington 190, third place Elk Grove 171 and new conference participant Hersey fourth with 150, a fine effort by the Huskies.

Cripe and Elk Grove's Amato were the only double record setters. Amato swam 57.50 in 100 free and 1:06.8 in backstroke. Wheeling's Mackie, the 50 free record setter in 25.9, pushed Amato hard in 100 free, swimming 57.54.

Prospect's Larsen swam 1:17.5 for her breaststroke record and teammate Allen went 2:29.0 for the new mark in individual medley. Arlington's Holland set a 316.55 diving record in Thursday's finals of that event.

Prospect's 2:02.5 would have set a new medley relay standard. Elk Grove's Amato, Donna Fournier, Sharon Bird and Diane Chrysokos were the winners in 2:06.1.

Complete summaries appear in today's Scoreboard.

Harper golfers take 2nd in meet but 1st overall

Harper slipped to a second place windup in the North Central Community College league golf gathering but it wasn't as disastrous an outcome as it might have been.

Chief rival Rock Valley did some slipping of its own and Harper was still able to come away with conference championship honors for 1975.

Behind solid 73s from Dave Nelson and Jim Arden, coach Roger Bechtold's group compiled a 299 in the Triton-hosted tournament at White Pines. Meanwhile Joliet forged a 295 to sneak in ahead of Harper and earn tournament laurels.

Rock Valley, on the other hand, could muster up only a 303 score and had to settle for a third place meet finish. With the over-all loop title being based half on dual meet credentials and half on tournament results, the Hawks still came out on top at the finish line.

Nelson and Arden tied for runnerup honors on the medalist list with Nelson claiming second place outright in a playoff. Arden netted the fourth place ribbon.

Mike Fitton at 76, Tom McEnerney at 77 and Kevin Eakins at 78 rounded out Harper scoring. The Hawks had forged a perfect 6-0 slate in dual meet action and own a 10-0 over-all dual meet log.

You have to live with 'floaters'

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb

I have been to an opthalmologist recently for very bad "floaters." My vision is severely affected by dozens of those specks that travel from side to side and up and down.

The doctor said name them Oscar and learn to live with them. Last week I went to an optometrist, and he said, "They'll either get better or worse. You have 20/20 vision otherwise and don't need glasses."

The condition is so annoying that I've all but quit reading or watching TV. However, I hesitate going to another doctor for an opinion. Are floaters a hopeless case?

Nothing is hopeless, but you may have to wait a while for medical science to be able to do anything about this problem.

Floaters are really eye shadows. Straight behind the pupil of your eye is the lens. It is attached to the sides of the eye and in front of the main large chamber of the eye. This large, rounded chamber is filled with a gelatinous material called the vitreous.

Light enters the pupil and is transmitted through the gel-like vitreous to the back of the eye or the retina. The retina is a specialized movie screen. Of course for images to be transmitted onto the screen properly you must have good focus with your lens and undistorted transmission of light.

As you get older, small, and some not so small, areas inside the gel-like vitreous literally turn to liquid. Part of the vitreous becomes ungelled. The gel-like material around these spots tends to contract. Now, when light is transmitted through the vitreous it is distorted by the contracted gel and the fluid. The fluid can shift, too, as you move your eyes quickly. The shadow caused by the distorted light through these areas is cast on the retinal screen. The shadow moves on the screen as you move your eyes, from side to side or up and down. These shadows are what you call floaters.

Right now there isn't much you can do about the problem except, "live with it," as you have been told. I am interested, though, in fairly new work to clean up the vitreous in some cases of blindness. This technique is not now used for your problem.

Some people lose their sight because of hemorrhage into the gel-like substance. The blood clouds the material and light is no longer transmitted properly through it to the retinal screen.

Dr. Gholam Peyman of the University of Illinois in Chicago and some other opthalmologists have developed a new technique to section out the vitreous from the eye, clean it up, and reinject it. In a number of people blinded from hemorrhage into the gel-like material, this procedure has restored sight. This gives real hope that the day is coming when the gel can be withdrawn, treated, its volume expanded or whatever, and restored to the eye. This is but one example of a lot of really remarkable advances that are occurring in improving or restoring sight. So, don't give up hope, there are a lot of capable scientists working for you.
